Below zero.

Geo. H. Hagen, Observer.

The local forecast for to-day is fair, slightly colder, possibly flurries of snow.

For Wednesday—Cold in the morning, warmer in the evening; fair weather. Warmer Thursday with snow.

The "high" or clearing area, has moved south-eastward from Dakota and is now central in Iowa. It is about 600 miles in width and 1,000 in length and extends from Lake Superior to Texas. The temperature is still falling in advance and rising in the rear of it. The rise at Bismarck was 24 degrees; at Rapid City 34 degrees, Cheyenne 32 degrees and throughout Montana the rise averages 40 degrees in the past 24 hours.

A "low," or storm center, is developing on our northwest border and will cause a continuation of the warm weather coming. The rise in temperature will be quite pronounced after Wednesday noon.

The storm central yesterday in the gulf has moved up the Atlantic coast, and is the cause of the snow and easterly winds which prevailed yesterday and to-day on the lower lakes. Some of the extreme temperatures in the United States this morning below zero were: 28 at St. Vincent, 30 at Moorhead, 26 at Duluth and Huron, 24 at St. Paul, Omaha and Des Moines. The zero line extends across Lakes Huron and Michigan southward as far as Arkansas and Texas. The highest here yesterday was 28 degrees; the lowest this morning was 10 degrees. Total snow fall, .24 inches.

CHILE WILL FIGHT.

Such is the Belief in Naval Circles.

While Minister Montt is Pleading for Time

Chilean Warships Are Putting to Sea.

Warships Receive Orders to Sail to the South.

Will They Be Met and Fired On by the Ships of President Montt?—The President at Work on the Forthcoming Message

New York, Jan. 19.—The Recorder's Washington special says a long dispatch was received yesterday at the navy department from Capt. Evans. Capt. Evans has reported that four of the best cruisers of the Chilean navy will leave Valparaiso January 20 for the Straits of Magellan, with a torpedo boat.

From another officer comes the additional information that the captain of one of the English ships of war in those waters said the Chilean commander informed him that the Chilean fleet was going on a special mission. "You may be astonished before long," he said.

This is interpreted to mean that Admiral Walker's fleet may be halted there and directed to turn back or risk a fight. This is the most serious indication of Chile's hostile intentions that the navy department has received.

Naval officials say it can only mean one thing, which is that Chile intends opening the ball herself. The vessels to go are said to be the Esmeralda, the Almirante Cochrane, the Pinto, a new armored cruiser, whose sailing rate is 19 knots, and the Condell, the famous fast torpedo boat that blew up the Blanco Encalado.

Admiral Walker, in his flagship, the Chicago, arrived at Montevideo January 11. He was yesterday informed of what might await him and warned to make ready for it. For the first time there is real alarm here at the threatened danger of Admiral Walker. His squadron is not equipped with torpedos and the Chicago might be blown up in spite of the utmost vigilance. It would be a daring and plucky attempt, but so was the successful attempt on the Blanco Encalada.

Capt. Evans also informs the department that he is taking extreme precautions on account of what he has been told for the safety of the Yorktown. He does not intend to be blown up if he can help it.

Senor Montt last night sent to the minister of foreign affairs a dispatch of several hundred words advising Pereoia of the determination of the United States and the warlike feeling which pervades every department of the government and congress, and strongly urging him to make some definite advances which might serve to allay the bitter feeling at Washington. The minister has not until now realized the full extent of the war feeling here and forcibly tells Pereoia that the fullness of our preparations is a matter of surprise to him.

ASKING DELAY.

Minister Montt Pleading for Time with the Secretary of State.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Senor Montt has within the past week received several confidential messages from the president of Chile, in which the political questions that have arisen since the inauguration of the new government have been set forth at some length, and the minister was urged to use every legitimate means to induce the United States to withhold the ultimatum which President Harrison is said to have been preparing.

President Montt's government was elected to support the Junta. The rule of the provisional government, though lacking in many qualities of statesmanship, was nevertheless immensely popular.

The congressional party had withdrawn from the capital of the nation, and with nothing but such resources as the nitrate beds in northern Chile afforded, had conducted a successful military and naval campaign, which ended in the complete rout of the Balmacedists.

Elated by their success, the congressionalists felt that Chile was able to cope with almost any enemy she might encounter. Senor Matta, until lately minister of foreign affairs, penned the bellicose reply to President Harrison's diplomatic note asking reparation for the assault upon the sailors of the Baltimore.

This was the first of a series of ill considered acts, which have brought about the present strained relations between the two governments. Its tone was applauded in Chile, and the popularity of the Junta was augmented by every indiscreet act of its hot-headed foreign minister.

Senor Peira, who succeeded Senor Matta, is much more conservative and in hearty sympathy with President Montt to bring about a peaceful settlement of the controversy. He is hampered, however, by the knowledge that his predecessor had the support of the Chilean people in his aggressive course, and the fear that any act repudiating Senor Matta's performance will be a signal for a general demonstration of disapproval that might result in the breaking up of the new cabinet, if not a revolution.

The president of Chile has scented out the necessity of acquainting Secretary Blaine with the facts in his official way which shall neither commit the Chilean government nor abate any of its dignity.

Minister Montt has very diplomatically made these matters clear to Secretary Blaine, and it is largely on this account that the secretary has used all the influence at his command to induce the president to withhold his message to congress, sugvesting an ultimatum until such a time as it can make a reply satisfactory to the United States without endangering the tenure of the present Chilean government.

Senor Montt has not contented himself with laying these facts before Secretary Blaine. He has imparted them to various public men with whom he has conversed on the subject, and it is likely that President Harrison will find that a thorough understanding of the situaton is already enjoyed by many members when his message reaches the house.

Orders for the Yorktown.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Secretary Tracy has sent a cable message to Commander Evans, of the Yorktown, at Valparaiso, instructing him to take the Balmaceda refugees now under his protection to Callao and land them there, but to use his discretion as to the time of his departure. The secretary said this afternoon that no orders have been sent to the Boston, at Callao, contemplating any change in her station. The departure of the Yorktown from Valparaiso would leave the United States without a single naval vessel in Chilean waters. The Yorktown could hardly make the trip from Valparaiso to Callao and return in less than a week's time. The distance from the two ports is about 1,500 miles.

As Capt. Evans is vested with full discretion, it is not regarded as at all likely that he will leave Valparaiso immediately, and in fact not until he is relieved by another vessel, or is thoroughly satisfied that the condition of affairs in Chile justified him in leaving the United States minister without means of leaving that country in the event that circumstances made it desirable or necessary to do so. It is therefore regarded as probable that unless the negotiations take a decidedly favorable turn within a week or so, that the Boston, which is the nearest ship, will be sent to Valparaiso in order that the Yorktown can safely leave that port with the refugees.

It was stated almost positively at the navy department this afternoon that no orders bearing on this subject have been sent to Admiral Walker at Montevideo.

A prominent naval officer said that the Chilean minister had no case whatever against Commander Evans on account of the salute fired in honor of the Spanish minister, who accompanied two of the refugees. In fact he said Capt. Evans would have been liable to court martial if he had not done so, as the omission would have been a violation of the naval regulations.

The President at Work.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The president denied himself to all visitors yesterday and worked on the Chilean correspondence. He is preparing his message to congress in the privacy of one of the inner rooms on the upper floor of the white house. Monday, though designated as the president's day of comparative isolation, usually finds quite a number of callers at the white house, but these were denied admission.

It is still the belief that the message and correspondence will be sent to congress on Wednesday.

Blaine Ill Again.

Secretary Blaine was somewhat indisposed yesterday and deemed it wise to remain indoors. His attack was somewhat similar to that of a fortnight ago, but was not so severe and he recovered quickly from it.

The Baltimore.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 19.—The Call this morning states that the cruiser Baltimore, now at Mare Island navy yard has received orders to leave on Wednesday for the South.

She will go direct to Acapulco or Calao without a stop. Nothing can be learned to show that she will be joined by the Charleston or San Francisco now at San Diego. Capt. Schley and all the officers of the Baltimore whose cruise has expired have asked to be reassigned to the ship on the understanding that trouble will occur with Chile.

Nearly all the time-expired sailors on the cruiser have also re-enlisted on a similar understanding. It is also stated that the Mohican, a wooden vessel has been ordered to leave in a day or two for Panama. The Mohican is now at Mare Island nearly ready for sea.

The Army Studying Chile.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—What may be regarded as a significant incident was the receipt at army headquarters here of a large number of maps from the war department of the fortified posts of Chile. The maps, which were taken from surveys made in 1887, are said to show the exact position of every fortified spot along the Chilean coast. The largest of the maps is one showing the city front of the city of Valparaiso, and the exact location of every fortified spot in the city. There are four large sized forts commanding the harbor and eight or ten heavy batteries between the north and south limits of the city. The number of guns in use in these fortified spots is problematical, but army officers estimate that there are not less than 100.

Gen. Miles declines to discuss the Chilean affair or the receipts of the maps, preferring that all news be given out at Washington. His aide, Capt. M. P. Maus, said the maps sent from Washington gave a clear idea of the strength of the Chileans in the matter of harbor defense.

"Valaraiso is well fortified," he said, "but the heavy guns of our biggest war ships would silence her batteries in a short time, in my opinion." Capt. Maus said the maps were sent merely that the officers might become acquainted with the situation. Army officers all over the country were brushing up their knowledge of the military strength of Chile and there was no doubt a great demand for maps such as had been sent to headquarters here.

Recruiting.

St. Louis, Jan. 19.—Considerable comment has been caused in military circles here in consequence of the instructions issued by Adjutant-General Wickham to the commander of state troops to recruit their commands up to the maximum. The order was taken to have some bearing upon the Chilean war rumor.

Col. Chas. G. Comfort, commanding the First regiment and at present acting brigadier, was seen this morning and asked for explanation of his order. He said the order was the best possible exlanation that had been issued after conference with Adjutant-General Wickham.

"Do you know, colonel, whether any communication from Washington has been received by the governor or the adjutant-general counseling recruiting the militia," was asked.

"Yes," was the colonel's answer. But further than this the colonel refused to talk.

DISCUSSED BY THE CABINET.

Chile Is to Say Whether or not There Will Be War.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special)—At the cabinet meeting to-day the principal topic of consideration was the Chilean question and the president's message on that subject.

The country at large will undoubtedly learn the true state of affairs within the next three days. Whether there will be war or not now rests entirely with Chile and from the attitude of that country, it will be war.

Preparations at the navy department do not abate in the least, and everything looks warlike.

The report current this morning, but denied at the department, that the Yorktown had been fired upon, created great consternation.

Commander Evans, who has command of the Yorktown, has the reputation of being a fighter, and if the boat was fired upon it is a foregone conclusion that he returned the fire.

The Valparaiso harbor is a network of torpedoes, and the opinion entertained by naval men is that she would have been blown up rather than fired upon.

GHERARDI IN COMMAND.

United States Squadrons To Be Consolidated at Valparaiso.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Orders were issued from the navy department to-day to concentrate the squadrons under Admiral Gherardi and Admiral Walker at Valparaiso, Chile.

Admiral Gherardi has been designated to command the vessels on the Pacific station.

At present Admiral Gherardi with his squadron is at Port-au-Prince, West India islands.

"FLICK" IS AT THE FRONT

His Power in the Lucas County Delegation.

The Silver Haired Orator From the Maumee Section is Boss of the Job in Columbus.

Columbus, Jan. 19.—(Special)—The legislators devoted most of to-day on calling on Governor McKinley and presenting the claims of their friends for positions under the administration. Hon. C. A. Flickinger and Collector Waldorf, of Toledo, made a call in the interest of William Kirby, of their city, who has a strong claim on the railroad commissionership.

Mr. Kirby has the strongest petition yet presented, and his friends feels greatly encouraged at the prospects.

THE LEGISLATURE TO-DAY

Gerrymander Number Four Introduced.

Much Money Wanted—Little to Spare.

Nearly Two Million Dollars Will Be Demanded by the Various Interests of This Great State.

Columbus, Jan. 19.—(Special)—This republican legislature has at this season of its entrance into prominence, a problem to launch that will cost the members of the finance committee considerable money, if it does not cause considerable loss of sleep, for the trouble will arise over the effort to bring the expenditures within the receipts. Two reasons can be assigned for this condition of affairs, viz:

1. Receipts will not be any greater, if not less than last year.

2. No definite information can be ascertained as to the exact revenue available. This latter cause can be blamed on the county officials who have been derelict in their duty of reporting.

One of the first places to ask for an increase in their appropriations comes from the Cleveland insane asylum, where a new cottage is wanted, and the sum of $50,000 is asked for.

After this will come the Gallipolis folks, who, it is said, want $200,000 for the epileptic asylum, but if they cannot secure that amount any sum will be acceptable, but their whole idea is to secure all within sight so that the gang can run things for the fall campaign.

The next pusher for a large amount of lucre from the state will be the intermediate penitentiary, and it is reliably stated that nothing less than $200,000 will do the residents of "Capellar town."

After they have been well cared for the other fellows may get a slice, but it will not reach the sums asked, as the revenues cannot stand such a draft and take care of the present needs of the state.

Appropriations have been asked for this year amounting to nearly two million dollars.

Of Interest to Ex-Soldiers.

Mr. Pudney introduced two bills that will interest ex-soldiers with incomplete records of enlistment. The first bill provides for assisting those soldiers who have lost their re-enlistment papers. It proposes to make the records of the adjutant general's office prima facie evidence of such re-enlistment, and to have the said re-enlistment credited to the county, township, city or ward of the city named in such certificate, as is found in the office of the adjutant general of Ohio. It also provides that books, papers, records, etc., in the possession of the adjutant general of the United States shall be available for the same purpose, so that soldiers who re-enlisted may be able to procure the $100 bounty provided by the law in force at that time.

Mr. Pudney's other bill will amend an act passed at the close of the late war, which provides for the payment of a bounty to soldiers who re-enlisted after having served two years. This act has been amended several times, and its provisions were so changed in 1889 as to entirely deprive many soldiers or their heirs from receiving the amounts of money promised them when the re-enlistment occurred. The object of Mr. Pudney's amendment is to provide that neither the lapse of time nor the statute of limitation shall affect the just claims.

Mr. Clark's Two Bills.

Mr. Clark also introduced two bills, the first of which is to increase the salary of judges of the supreme court from $4,000 to $5,000. The second bill is to extend the benefits of an act at present only operative in Cincinnati to Cleveland. The law it is proposed to amend, is one which confers fiduciary powers upon trust companies.

The Fourth.

Mr. Williams, of Williams, has introduced the following re-districting bill:

First and Second Districts—Hamilton county.

Third district—Colerain, Crosby and Harrison townships in Hamilton county and the counties of Butler, Preble and Montgomery.

Fourth district—Auglaize, Darke, Logan, Mercer, Miami and Shelby.

Fifth district—Allen, Hancock, Hardin, Putnam and Van Wert counties.

Sixth district—Defiance, Fulton, Paulding, Henry, Williams and Wood.

Seventh district—Erie, Lucas and Ottawa counties.

Eighth district—Crawford, Marion, Morrow, Sandusky, Seneca and Wyandot.

Ninth district—Delaware, Franklin and Union.

Tenth district—Champaign, Clark, Fayette, Greene, Madison and Pickaway.

Eleventh district—Adams, Brown, Clermont, Clinton, Highland and Warren counties and the townships of Sycamore and Symmes in Hamilton.

Twelfth district—Gallia, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Pike and Scioto.

Thirteenth district—Coshocton, Fairfield, Holmes, Knox, Licking and Perry.

Fourteenth district—Ashland, Huron, Lorain, Richland, Wayne.

Fifteenth district—Medina and part of Cuyahoga.

Seventeenth district—Ashtabula, Geauga, Mahoning and Trumbull.

Eighteenth district—Portage, Summit and Stark.

Nineteenth district—Harrison, Carroll, Columbiana, Jefferson and Tuscarawas.

Twentieth district—Belmont, Guernsey, Muskingum, Monroe and Noble.

Twenty-first district—Athens, Hocking, Morgan, Ross, Vinton and Washington.

This plan makes 14 republican districts and seven democratic, with a fighting chance for the democrats in two republican districts.

Short Sessions.

Both branches of the legislature were only in session a short time to-day.

More Bills.

The following bills were introduced in the house this morning:

Mr. McCoy—Amending laws relative to public printing by making a special class of bulletins of the Ohio experimental station.

Mr. Kelley—Authorizing the commissioners of Paulding county to take charge of county dredges and employ competent persons to operate the same.

Mr. Gilliland—Authorizing the village of Middleport, Van Wert county, to issue $5,000 in bonds for improvement purposes, passed.

Mr. Garber—Making it felony to tap telegraph and telephone lines without authority.

Mr. Strock—Authorizing county auditors to refund money unlawfully collected for taxes and permitting the deduction of the state's portion from the next semi-annual settlement.

Representative Camp Dead.

A telegram received here at noon to-day announces the death of Representative Camp, of Medina, at his home at Hornerville, of grip. He went home from here two weeks ago sick.

COL. J. H. BRIGHAM ILL.

Confined to His Room in Washington with a Severe Cold.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special)—Col. J. H. Brigham, of Fulton county, worthy master of the national grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, is in the city on official business for the order, and is confined to his room in the National hotel with a severe cold.

He has summoned the legislative committee of the national grange to meet here on January 22.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED.

Elliott Loses In His Case Before the Supreme Court.

Columbus, Jan. 19.—(Special)—The supreme court this morning refused a new trial to murderer Elliott. The decision meets with approval of citizens of all classes of this community.

The supreme court also affirmed the judgment of the circuit court of Huron county in the case of hte Lake Shore road vs. Geo. W. Herrick, and bounced the democratic stationery keeper of Hamilton county by a judgment of ouster. He was appointed by the law giving the clerk of courts of that county authority to appoint.

VICTORY FOR CLEVELAND.

First Blood for the Ex-Chief Executive.

Hill Men to Make a Strong Contest.

Pennsylvania Delegates in a Fair Way to be Solid for the Man From Buffalo for President.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—(Special)—The Cleveland-Pattison forces won a sweeping victory at the democratic primaries in this city last night, and by winning this battle they have practically secured control of the ten national delegates and also of the state convention, which will send eight delegates at large.

The leaders of the Cleveland-Pattison forces, marshalled under Secretary of State Harrity, have captured all of the conventions in five congressional districts.

Congressman McAleer, the leader of the Hill faction, was knocked out in his own district, which Samuel J. Randall had possession of for so many years.

The Hill men held a conference and arranged to contest half the seats at to-day's convention in the hope of knocking Cleveland out.

A SOCIETY FOR MURDER.

A Big Sensation on the Pacific Coast.

The Greek Church Quarrel Has Developed Into a Plot to Murder Two Members of One Faction.

San Francisco, Jan. 19.—A curious sequel of the Greek church quarrel in this city came to light yesterday, revealing a plot on the part of the Slavonian society to murder one of the men conspicuous in securing the recent removal of Bishop Vladimir as head of the Greek church on this coast.

The fight over Vladimir developed intense bitterness, and led to an attempt to burn down the Greek cathedral and a deadly attack on the bishop and several others. The leaders among the radicals in the church party who finally triumphed over the bishop were Dr. Nicholas Russell and Bozo Goptchevitch.

Russell has been frequently threatened with death, and a few months ago Goptchevitch was beaten by four men and left for dead in the street. He recovered, but could get no clue to his assailants.

A few days ago he learned of a new plot against his life. An ex-convict named Charley Thompson was hired to kill him for $1,000, and if he succeeded he was to get another $1,000 for removing Dr. Russell.

Thompson weakened on the job and told Goptchevitch. It was arranged that the clothing of the dead man was to be a voucher for paying the money, but when Thompson, who had planned the matter with Goptchevitch, came with the bloody clothes his employers demanded to see the corpse before they handed over the coin.

The humorous feature of the case is that the Slavonian society to which the men who hired Thompson belong held a ball Saturday evening, and the profits of the entertainment were to be paid to the assassin yesterday.

There is no question but that Thompson was hired in good faith to commit the murder, but premature publicity given to the affair, and a demand for the production of the body, prevented clinching the bargain with coin. Goptchevitch went into hiding to bear out a report that he had been killed.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND

Has Journeyed Suddenly to Rome.

Much Speculation in Catholic Circles as to the Cause of His Hasty Departure.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 19.—There have been many surmises regarding Archbishop Ireland's hasty departure. The reason has just leaked out.

"The journey of Archbishop Ireland to Rome is a result of a recent conference of the American prelates at St. Louis but it was somewhat hastened by other events," said Rev. Father Byrnes, who was for six years private secretary of Archbishop Ireland.

"The prelate felt that important questions requiring the most judicious treatment were being hurried too much, if not hopelessly involved, by the innumerable petitions, memorials and newspaper editorials with which Rome was being incessantly flooded.

"They desired a man who could unravel this snarl and their unanimous choice was the venerable archbishop of St. Paul. The death of Cardinal Manning and much more the death of Cardinal Simeoni, will augment the difficulties of the archbishop's mission.

"If the archbishop can impress his noble ideas on the church authorities at Rome he will merit not only a cardinal's hat, but the lasting gratitude of the American church."

BLAINE ILL ONCE MORE.

Taken Home From a Cabinet Meeting.

A Re-Occurrence of the Attack Which Incapacitated Him for Work a Few Days Ago.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Secretary Blaine was taken suddenly ill at the cabinet meeting to-day, shortly after 11 o'clock.

He was assisted to his carriage by Secretary Elkins and taken to his residence and a physician was immediately summoned.

Hiss illness was a recurrence of the attack of nausea from which he suffered on January 6, when he was taken home from the state department.

Dr. Fish, of St. John's church, and is a very fine singer. Her voice is one of great sweetness, and her rendition of sacred music is excellent. She sang at Island Park assembly last season to the delight of all.

TALKING BASE BALL.

Western Association Plan Being Discussed.

Chairman McGuire Has Instructed C. H. Morton to Consult With the Toledo People.

A meeting will be held at Chicago on Thursday to form a Western league of base ball clubs for the coming season.

Columbus, Indianapolis, Milawukee, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Paul and Minneapolis have consented to join, and those cities are anxious that Toledo should fall in line.

R. W. McGuire, of Chicago, is chairman of the circuit committee, and he wired C. H. Morton to come to Toledo and see how the people felt on the subject.

The plan of the Western league people is to live within a $12,000 salary limit, and in order to do so they propose to have one man sign the players for the several clubs and make an equitable distribution.

The big 12-club league has agreed to furnish enough players of national reputation to fill the Western league, so that it will be seen that Toledo can get a club this year for $12,000 that cost $35,000 two years ago.

Mr. Morton is receiving much encouragement from the base ball loving public. The time is short, however, and definite plans will have to be matured in the next few days if Toledo takes a position in the new circuit.

With base ball wars over, and matters of transportation in better shape, the prospects for a club's success in Toledo this year are brighter than they ever were.

THREATENED TO SHOOT.

Sensational Quarrel Between Two Prominent Citizens,

All Over the Cutting of Ice on the River—Mr. John Kelting Claims That Mr. Walter Brown Threatened Him With a Revolver.

A small war that occurred on the ice at Manhattan last Friday has just been brought to light and is creating something of a sensation owing to the prominence of the parties concerned.

The trouble occurred between Mr. John Kelting, of the firm of J. N. Dewey & Co., fish dealers, and Mr. Walter Brown, the meat packer and dealer. The men own adjoining property on Summit avenue at Manhattan and running back to the river.

On last Friday Mr. Kelting's men were cutting ice in the rear of his property, and about 130 feet from shore they cleared the snow off the ice back of Mr. Brown's lot preparatory to cutting. Mr. Brown ordered them off of this and Mr. Kelting claims, drove them away at the muzzle of a revolver.

This morning Mr. Kelting applied at the police clerk's office for a warrant for Mr. Walter Brown, on a charge of pointing fire-arms and the warrant will probably be issued and served to-day.

Mr. Kelting claims that all have an equal right to the ice on the river at a distance from the shore. He says that when his men were clearing the snow away Brown frightened them off. Mr. Kelting then took the scraper himself, and at this Mr. Brown drew a revolver, and, pointing it at him, threatened to shoot if he did not stop.

HAVE YOU MET HIM?

He Goes Everywhere, and Everybody Knows Him.

Mr. Bore is a young man I frequently meet at an evening gathering, informal dance, out calling with a friend, at a reception, or what not. He refuses to contribute his share to prevailing amusements. Suppose there has been some music at a little party. Miss A., with her most winning smile, approaches him.

"I'm sure you play, Mr. B.; do you not?"

"I'm so sorry—I don't," he answers.

"Then, perhaps, you sing?"

"O, no!" in horror.

She leaves him in his corner, contented, on the sofa and cushions.

"This is a nice place for a chat, all by ourselves," says his hostess, seating herself near him.

"I'm not much of a conversationalist," he replies.

And he is not. She talks art, science, horse-racing, babies, foot-ball, business, crops, weather, and all to no purpose. He merely adds a "Yes" or "No" to whatever she says.

"Perhaps you play chess?" she finally remarks, in despair.

"I have never cared for it," he rejoins. She leaves him, discouraged.

He appears, next, in the home of a more pretentious friend, who is giving an evening's pleasure to the young folks.

"Ah, Jack, I'm glad to see you here," says his chum.

"Let me introduce you to Miss C., whom I think you can secure for the next waltz."

"No, no, never mind," he answers. "You know I never dance; it's against my religious views."

"O!" says his friend and leaves him.

"We want you to join our skating party next week," says a young miss. "I'm sure you will."

"Well, the fact is, you see, I don't skate; don't care anything about it."

"O!" for the second time.

His host sees him in the corner and prepares to do something to interest him, commences to open fire.

"Splendid weather we are having?"

"Yes, indeed."

"H'm! Rather a large conflagration a short time ago."

"Indeed, it was."

"That looks bright and merry out there with the lads and lasses waltzing, don't it?"

"Yes, indeed!"

"Won't you come and join the next set?"

"Oh, no!"

And thus it goes. He is constantly breaking into the social world without forming a part of it. He mars the pleasures of others, and what enjoyment he obtains in return, is a mystery. If he don't dance, why does he go to dances? If he possesses no accomplishment, can't converse on any earthly subject, doesn't enjoy recreations dear to others, in the name of common sense, why don't he stay at home? He is a wet blanket on social amusements.—Arkansaw Traveler.

TRUE PATHOS.

Four long years had Jack the sailor been away, and his ship was reported "lost, with all on board," says the Youth's Companion. The news seemed to pile years on his father's bent shoulders; his mother's smile faded out, and wrinkles seamed her cheeks. One summer day, however, as the two came slowly out of church with their pretty daughters—all three scarcely balancing the loss of one dear son—a shabby, bronzed, and handsome fellow rushed up to the group and took his mother in his arms. "It's my boy! my own boy!" cried she, throwing her arms about him and smothering him with kisses, while the father managed to get possession of one brown, sinewy hand. "Come, mother, give us a chance!" cried the girls in chorus, and by this time the entire congregation had surrounded the wanderer and claimed his greeting. "But you were drowned, Jack!" exclaimed the youngest sister; and Jack laughed as he explained: "No, only partly. Two of us floated for days, reached an island in the Pacific, fell in with friendly savages, and then—waited for a ship. Got my belt full of money, father, but couldn't wait to buy a rag of decent clothes." Then the minister said solemnly, "Let us pray," and there under the trees, with uncovered head, he offered thanks for the wanderer's return. When he had finished every one was softly weeping, and not a soul dreamed that the tragic joy of the occasion could be turned into mirth. Suddenly Jack's mother, wrought up beyond endurance, opened her lips and spoke. "Jack," said she, sharply, "ain't you ashamed to come to meetin' with such a ragged old handkercher as that?" Jack roared, and so did the neighbors. Tears were wiped away and laughter reigned.

AN IRISH STORY.

A farmer was put on trial at the Clonmel Assizes, at the beginning of the present century, before Lord Norbury—then known as the "hanging judge"—for having killed a man in a faction fight at the fair of Nenagh by smashing his skull. In the course of the trial surgical evidence was given that the skull of the deceased was no thicker than an eggshell. However, the accused was found guilty; and when asked by the judge what he had to say why sentence of death should not be pronounced upon him, he replied that "he had nothing to say, only he thought that a man with a skull no thicker than an eggshell had no business at the fair of Nenagh." This answer so tickled the judge that he ordered his discharge, observing that the man's death, according to the doctor's evidence, was purely the result of a natural accident; at the same time he warned the prisoner that, should he ever again engage in a faction fight, to make sure that the man he encountered had a skull thicker than an eggshell.—London Spectator.

WHO THE DUKE OF TECK IS.

Some very absurd fictions about the descent of the duke of Teck were printed in the Times last week. The duke is the only son of the late Duke Alexandria of Wurtemberg by his morganatic marriage with the Countess Claudine de Rhedey, who was created Countess Hohenstein by the late emperor of Austria and who died in 1841. Duke Alexander, who died in 1885., was a cousin of the late king of Wurtemberg, and if his marriage had been formally recognized by the German courts the duke of Teck would now be heir to the throne of Wutemberg.—London World.

THEY MAKE CLAIMS,

AND THEY ARE REASONABLE, JUST AND TRUTHFUL CLAIMS.

Training and Education Have Taught Dr. Copeland and Associates How to Cure Certain Diseases—Their Experience Has Shown Them That They Can Cure Them, and They Have an Undeniable Right to Claim to Cure Them.

It was an honest physician—a physician in regular practice, and a frank, sincere kind of a man, who, during a visit to Dr. Copeland recently, made use of a remark which was something like this:

"Doctor, you will pardon me if I say that there is only one criticism that I can pass upon your way of doing business. There is only one thing that I cannot understand. As I take it, you make clear and distinct claims; you state that you cure certain diseases. Now, I cannot understand how you can do this. To tell you the honest truth, I do not feel sure that I can cure anything."

The speaker in this case was entirely honest. He was a well educated physician, in fact was a classmate of Dr. Copeland years ago, and has devoted many years of his life to general practice, and stands eminently well in the community in which he practices. In spite of his assertion of his own lack of confidence in himself, he is successful as a practitioner. He was entirely honest in the remark above quoted, and he was just as honest when, a few minutes later during the conversation he said:

"Doctor, the fact about it is that a man cannot be a general practitioner any longer. Developments in medicine and surgery in the last ten years have come upon us so thick and fast that a man cannot cover the field; he cannot keep up with all that is new and useful and wonderful and effective in relieving suffering. He has got to be a specialist, in order to know what he is doing, and to be effective in his own work, he has got to confine himself to certain special lines of practice."

There had our friend hit the truth, hit it squarely and fairly, and in that remark had our friend explained his first remark, and his lack of confidence in himself.

The man whose work must cover the whole range of diseases to which the flesh is heir, and the whole compass of the theory and practice of medicine to-day, can well say that he does not feel as if he could cure anything.

The man who confines his work to certain special lines of practice to which he devotes his time and his efforts, his training and his intelligence for all his life,

Has a Right to Say,

Speaking from his experience, speaking from his knowledge of diseases, and speaking from the results to which he can point with pardonable pride:

"I can cure these diseases; I know whereof I speak; I have given my life to the treatment of these diseases; I understand them; I know how to cure them; let the results of my work speak for themselves in this community."

This is the position of thoroughly trained, experienced and successful specialists. There is no deception; there is no boasting; there is no untruthfulness about it. When Dr. Copeland and his associates say:

"We cure catarrh and kindred troubles; we do cure it every day, and we have been curing it for years in our practice," they are saying what they know is true; what the testimony of hundreds of reputable citizens in the community in which they practice say is true.

They do cure the troubles in their specialties, and the reason that they are able to cure them and are able to speak with such confidence is, that they devote their lives to them, and by study, practice and experience, understand how to be successful in them.

We believe that criticisms are often passed upon the claims of specialists which are honest ones. We believe that the criticism with which this article opens is an honest and fair-minded one, but we believe that it is based upon an erroneous conception of the work and the skill and the success of genuine specialists.

Now, just a word in conclusion of an entirely personal nature. There are doctors and doctors. There are specialists and specialists.

In the first place, two-thirds of the men claiming to be doctors in the country are

No Doctors at All,

Have no legitimate claim to the title.

A fair proportion of them have not a legitimate diploma of any kind. A still larger proportion are of a class that is aptly described by the following language from a recent medical publication:

"A boy gets tired of farm or workshop, packs his trunk and hies away to some cheap medical college for ten months, comes back and is ready to practice medicine. Each year 3,000 so-called doctors are turned loose to practice their ignorance on the public."

It is useless as well to enlarge upon the looseness which envelopes the requirements of medical practice in this country.

There are doctors and doctors; there are specialists and specialists; and of the specialists a large proportion are no doctors at all."

It is useless as well to enlage upon the amount of humbug with which the name specialist had been clouded within the last few years, but we have this to say as well for self-protection as well as the protection of the public.

Dr. Copeland and associates, after more than the usual time spent in the best medical colleges in the country, after an extended experience and training in hospital practice, after years of special work, study and experience in the lines of their specialties, have frankly and honestly offered their services to the public, have made and substantiated their claims, have proven their skill against all sorts of Challenge and Opposition.

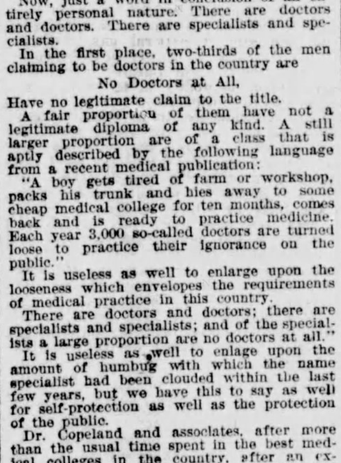
Their claims are those which they have a right to make; they are truthful, just and reasonable. They do cure the diseases which they claim to cure, and the reason that they are able to make these claims is that they have given their life to special study, special training and special work, and know whereof they speak.

They are able to say from the basis of columns of printed testimonials. "This is the work we do; these are the results we accomplish; let the public judge and let the profession judge, too, as justly and as deliberately as it may be able to."

A Toledo Instance.

"Yes, I have gained sixteen pounds since being under the treatment of Dr. Copeland and associates. Not only have I gained in weight, but I have become a different man entirely," said Mr. Wheeler Roscoe, who lives at No. 350 Fourth street, East Toledo.

"I had been troubled for a long time," continued Mr. Roscoe. "I had a tickling sensation in my throat; my head would stop up; my nose was almost always stopped up; there was an accumulation of phlegm in my throat; I would hawk and spit; my throat would get sore; I had pains in my chest—pains that would extend to my back; my back ached so at night that I could not sleep; my head would ache constantly, and I would have spells of dizziness. I had a continual ringing and buzzing in my ears; in short, I suffered all the symptoms of aggravated chronic catarrh.



Wheeler Roscoe, 350 Fourth Street.

"I had been reading of the notable success of Dr. Copeland and associates and I made up my mind that if they could help others, they could help me. I called at their office, 706 Madison street, and I saw at once that they knew how to handle my case. I placed myself under their treatment, and, as I said, they have made an entirely new man of me. The symptoms I have told you of are all gone. My general health is excellent. I am still gaining in weight, and feel like telling everybody of the great good Dr. Copeland and associates have done for me. My advice to sufferers is, to go and see them. What they have done for me they can certainly do for others."

TORU DUTT.

India has had one real poetess, a young girl, called familiarly Toru Dutt, who had the additional advantage of a thorough education. She and her sister, Aru, not only shared their brother's English lessons, while living in Calcutta, but were given the benefit of travel and extended instruction in France and England. On their return to India, Toru at once began writing for publication, and so skillful was her use of the English language, that it became a general belief that her work was that of some English writer who had chosen to adopt an Indian pseudonym.

In 1876, when she was twenty years old, Mr. Edmund Gosse was reviewing books for an English newspaper, and it is his account of a certain visit paid at the editorial office, in the "dead season of the year," that he spent it in upbraiding the whole body of publishers for issuing no books worth reviewing. "At that moment," he says, "the postman brought in a thin, sallow packet, with a wonderful Indian postmark on it, and containing a most unattractive orange pamphlet of verse, entitled 'A Sheaf Gleaned in French Fields.'

"This shabby little book seemed speedily destined to find its way into the waste-paper basket, but the editor thrust it into my unwilling hands, and said:

"'There, see whether you can make something of that.'

"A hopeless volume it seemed, with its queer outside and queerer type, but when at last I took it out of my packet, what was my surprise and almost rapture, to open upon real poetry."

Toru's acquaintance with French and English literature was something remarkable, and her translations were full of grace and spirit. Both she and her sister found time for a great amount of serious study, but they were also enthusiastic novel readers.

"What are your favorite books?" asked an English gentleman, who was paying their father a visit.

"Novels, of course," answered Toru, without delay.

"Novels," he exclaimed. "I am sorry to hear that. You should read history."

"Oh, no," was the reply, "history is false, but novels are true."

It was truth of thought, life and character which these Bengali girls sought; they tried to steep themselves in the actual atmosphere breathed by different nations.

Toru Dutt was but twenty-one when she died, and yet she left behind her, not only original poems and translations, but the manuscript of a French novel, which, amid all its imperfections, still shows remarkable promise.

"It is only physical pain which makes me cry," she said to the doctor, in her last moments. "My spirit is at peace. I know in whom I have believed."—Woman's Home Journal.

UNDER THE DAISIES.

I have just been learning the lessons of life,
The sad, sad lesson of loving.
And all of its power for pleasure or pain
Been slowly, sadly proving;
And all that is left of the bright, bright dream,
With its thousand brilliant phases,
Is a handful of dust in a coffin hid—
A coffin under the daisies,
The beautiful, beautiful daisies,
The snowy, snowy daisies.

And thus forever throughout the world
Is love a sorrow proving;
There's many a sad, sad thing in life,
But the saddest of all is loving.
Love often divides far greater than death,
Stern fortune the high wall raises,
But better far than two hearts estranged
Is a low grave starred with daisies,
The beautiful, beautiful daisies,
The snowy, snowy daisies.

And so glad am I that we lived as we did
Through the summer of love together,
And that one of us tired and lay down to rest
Ere the coming of winter weather.
For the sadness of love is love's growing cold,
And 'tis one of its surest phases,
So I bless my God with a breaking heart
For that grave enstarred with daisies,
The beautiful, beautiful daisies,
The snowy, snowy daisies.
—Hattie Tyng Griswold.

The second book printed in the English language was "The Game and Playe of the Chesse," which the title page says was "Fynyshid the last day of Marche, the yer of our lord god a thousande foure hondred and LXXIIj." Only 12 copies of the work are known to exist. In 1813 an Englishman by the name of Alchorne sold his copy for a sum equal to $270 of United States currency. Fifty-six years later, 1869, the same volume (an imperfect copy) was sold for $2,150. The British museum has refused an offer of $10,000 for its copy, which is imperfect to the extent of having seven leaves missing.

BUT HE WENT.

"I will not go," he said, "for well
I know her eyes' insidious spell,
And how unspeakably he feels
Who takes no pleasure in his meals.
I know a one-idead man
Should undergo the social ban,
And if she once my purpose meets
I know I'll think of nothing else.

I care not though her teeth are pearls—
The town is full of nicer girls!
I care not though her lips are red—
It does not do to lose one's head!
I'll give her leisure to discover,
For once, how little I think of her;
And then, how will she feel?" cried he—
And took his hat and went to see.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The Philadelphia Telegraph tells the following story: When the late President Buchanan found himself at the forks of the road, some friends going one way and some another over the trouble in Kansas, he summoned the Hon. Richard Vaux, who had been with him abroad and in whom he had great confidence. He desired this gentleman to uphold his administration in the policy decided upon. Mr. Vaux kindly but firmly declared that this was impossible. He must go the other way. The president benignly regarded his independent visitor a moment, and then suggestively remarked: "You have a bright future—beware how you wreck it—remember that Wm. Duane and Samuel D. Ingham, brilliant men, lost everything by opposing Jackson." With quiet dignity Mr. Vaux replied: "Mr. Buchanan, if you think you are an Andrew Jackson you make a great mistake," and that ended the conversation.

How about that proposed amendment of the constitution changing the day for inaugurating the president from March 4 to some time in April, asks the Philadelphia Press. The month of "sun showers" was picked out as of historical significance, owing to the fact that Washington was then inaugurated. Aside from historical prestige the question is a meteorological one and should be considered from that point of view. A Washington March day has meant death for thousands, and if a change to mid-April or May's first week will bring a possibility of better weather congress ought to start the movement along.

The aggregate amount paid in wages to diamond workers in Holland is about $5,000,000 a year, and it is estimated that 10,000 persons are employed in this industry. Two million dollars' worth of these precious stones come direct from Holland to the United States every year, and the same amount is also shipped to London and Paris. Experienced calculators estimate the value of diamonds received annually in America at fully $5,000,000.

Suicide has become so frequent in many of the European armies that the governments are beginning to feel that it is necessary for them to take action upon it. The Austrian army leads the list with a yearly average of of 122 suicides for every 100,000 effective troops. Germany follows with 67 suicides to the same number, with Italy 40. The other countries show averages of 29 for France, 24 for Belgium, 23 for England, 20 for Russia and 14 for Spain. In the armies which are largely recruited by enrollments, as in the case of England, it is the old soldiers that commit suicide, while with France, Germany, Italy and Austria it is the young men who kill themselves. It is a notable fact, too, that the mania is more intense with the officers, the under-officers furnishing three times the proportion of suicides that is found among the troops, while the higher officers furnish twice the number. The problem is one that suggests much curious speculation, but it shows the terrible pressure such a life of intense monotony puts upon a man of ambition. War, with all its horrible possibilities, is a welcome change, and therein lies one of the most serious menaces to the peace of Europe.

The California orange crop appears to have been very seriously damaged by severe wind storms and frosts during the month of December. According to the Los Angeles Times wind storms which occurred December 10 and 11 were very destructive to both crops and trees in the San Gabriel Valley and along the foothills. The estimates of loss are from 10 to 75 per cent. The frosts that came later in the month, however, caused the most extensive injury. In some sections the crop will be almost a total loss. The leaves on many of the trees are as white as though they had been painted, and oranges were frozen to the depth of a quarter of an inch. The San Gabriel Valley again suffered and the highlands of San Bernardino county. One grower says that instead of an expected crop of 8,000 boxes he will gather only 500 to 1,000. In the early part of the season it was thought that southern California would this year export from 4,500 to 5,000 carloads of citrus fruits. It is now doubtful if half of that quantity will be gathered. This means a loss of more than $1,000,000.

Southern farmers have been diversifying their crops in recent years to an extent not generally known and appreciated, says the Baltimore Sun. They have been lectured recently for growing cotton exclusively, whereas, as a matter of fact, according to the New York Stockholder, their cereal crop in 1891 exceeded their cotton crop in value by nearly as much as $43,000,000. In the southern states, exclusive of Delaware, Maryland nad Missouri, the crop of cereals in 1891 was worth $403,233,520, as against cotton produced to the value of $360,321,240. Both crops showed an increase over 1890, but the increase of cereals was $78,073,120, or nearly four times the increase of cotton. Under the discouragement caused by the low price of cotton this year the culture of this staple may be expected to lose much of its present prominence.

The value of all southern crops in 1891, cotton included, was $1,108,976,200, or $124,541,450 more than in 1890, and $497,297,000 more than in 1880. Corn was grown to the extent of 540,330,000 bushels, as against 268,757,000 in 1881. Of wheat, 48,490,000 bushels were grown, an increase of 12,500,000 bushels over 1890. Oats reached 76,178,000 bushels, an increase of 16,000,000 bushels. The value of sugar produced was $35,462,872, an increase of $2,287,672 over 1890; of tobacco, $35,750,405, an increase of $4,471,881; of fruit, $40,526,000, an increase of $15,905,500; of hay, $23,476,400, an increase of $2,406,960; of potatoes, $18,843,762, an increase of $4,581,162; rice $8,482,600, an increase of $43,640; of other products, $182,879,401.

The increased production of fruits is very striking. From $9,084,173 in 1880 to $40,526,000 in 1891 is a long leap. Florida produced last year, it is stated, 4,500,000 boxes of oranges, almost expelling the Spanish orange from our market. The value of southern livestock in 1891 was $613,527,323, as against $360,066,883 in 1880. Agricultural machinery in use in the south in 1880 was worth $67,372,500, but in 1891 there had been a growth to $126,787,500.

Agriculture has continued to be the largest interest of the people. This is shown in part in the increased number of farms since 1880 and the increased acreage under cultivation. The south had in that year 1,551,067 farms, while in 1891 the number was 2,168,520, an increase of 617,453 farms. Some three or four million more people now get their living by tilling the soil than a decade ago. This progress has not been made solely by dividing up the plantations into petty farms for the negroes, but very largely by the opening of new areas or by the reclamation of disused lands. This is shown in the fact that the increased acreage under cultivation in 1891 was 27,785,991 acres. The south, in fact, has three times as much arable land as any other section of the country. It is emphatically an agricultural region. Much has been said of the development of its manufactures and mines—and deservedly, for it has been a magnificent development—but it is well not to lose sight of the fact that its farm products are worth over twice as much as its manufactures and thirty times as much as its mines. Its progress is many-sided, and is all the more wholesome and solid for being so. The south has not put all its eggs in one basket.

ELECTRIC CARS ON FIRE,

And the Barn Goes With the Rest Into Smoke.

A Destructive Conflagration Early This Morning.

The Robisons Lose Twenty-Six Cars—The Loss Will Reach $125,000, With $60,000 Insurance.

The patrons of the Robison street railway are almost without service to-day because of a bad fire which that company suffered last night. About 1:40 fire was discovered in the brick car barn on Canton avenue, and an alarm was at once sent in. It was a terrible night to fight fire, but the department responded promptly and were soon on the scene. The fire had gained too much headway, however, and the fight was fruitless except to keep the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings, which was done.

The car barn, a large one-story brick structure, was completely gutted, and all the cars in the barn, except one, were destroyed. This included 26 closed motor cars which were in use, and about a dozen open summer cars, and several closed cars without motors.

Only the bare brick walks of the building are left, and the loss is almost total, the damage being about $125,000, with an insurance of $60,000.

The fire started in one of the cars, and is supposed to have been caused by the upsetting of a lamp which had been left burning.

There is a private fire plug and hose located in the barn, and when the blaze was discovered it could have been extinguished by th's means, but when the men attempted to get water from the hydrant in the barn it was frozen up and useless.

The flames then spread with almost incredible rapidity from car to car, the light woodwork burning like kindling wood, and the men in the barn were obl'ged to flee for their lives.

The one car which was saved was next to the doors already to run out for a spin around the Belt line about 2 o'clock. The motorman was asleep in the car, and as soon as the alarm was given ran his car out into the street. This was all that was saved from the barn. The cars and big electric motors destroyed are very valuable and this makes the loss so heavy.

The insurance consists of $5,480 on the barn and $54,600 on the cars and motors, the policies being placed as follows:

E. A. Pope—
Home, New York	$ 5,000
Imperial	2,500
Niagara, New York	5,000
Total	12,500
Merrill, Jackson & Ketcham—
British America	$ 2,500
Manchester	5,000
Michigan	5,000
Total	12,500
John S. Kountz—
Royal	$17,500
Fire Association, London	5,000
Total	$22,500
Barker & Frost—
London & Lancashire	$5,000
Irving & Russell—
Citizens	$2 500
Phenix	5,000
Total	7,500
Total insurance	$60,000

The Robisons have only nine cars left, and these are being run to-day, four on the Belt line and five on the Huron street line.

Mr. David Robison is in New York city, but his sons, James and Will, are doing everything necessary as promptly as possible.

Mr. James Robison stated to a Bee that new cars would be ordered before night, and the work of clearing up the debris in the barn would begin as soon as the embers are cool.

"We cannot tell how soon we will be in shape, however," said he, "as the makers do not keep these cars in stock, and it generally takes several months after a car is ordered before it can be had. We will do everything to get cars as soon as possible, and perhaps we may be able to borrow some second-hand cars somewhere to use temporarily."

This fire is a heavy blow to the Robison company, for besides their heavy loss, not covered by insurance, there will be the immense loss of business during the time they are disabled.

There is also another bad feature in the fact that about 100 car men and barn men will be thrown out of employment in the dead of winter. This will probably produce considerable destitution and suffering.

The fire was not entirely extinguished until late to-day, and the scene presents a terribly wrecked appearance. The fierceness of the flames was shown by an incident during the fire. When the blaze burst out of the car barn it scorched a frame dwelling adjoining, almost instantly filling it with stifling smoke. This came so sudden that the family who were in bed were nearly suffocated, and a baby in its cradle would have died had it not been rescued by Mr. Ned Radbone, who carried it out of the house to that of a neighbor.

WORK AND WAGES.

Facts Deduced From English Economic History.

The Rise and Fall of Wages—The People Were Robbed of the Land and of Too's of Labor, and Both Must be Restored to Them.

The audience gathered in Memorial hall annex last evening to listen to the lecture by Rev. Mr. Bliss was not so large as it would have been had not the weather been so very inclement. Rev. Geo. Candee presided, and explained the purpose of the Economic society of Toledo, inviting those present who were not members of the society to attend its future meetings. The next meeting will be held the second Wednesday in February, when Gov Ashley's proposed amendment to the constitution will be discussed. Mr. A. E. Macomber will give the paper at the March meeting. Both meetings will be held in the Steadman business college.

Rev. D. W. P. Bliss was then introduced as a Christian socialist, and editor of "The Dawn." He said the questions of to-day were to be studied in the light of past history. The old Testament history showed that the truth was recognized that God was the one land owner. Departure from that doctrine was at the root of econimic evils.

In what he said he proposed to dwell upon the rise and fall of wages in England, as that country had a long and clearly proven economic history, which as yet this country has not. He followed the deductions of Thorold Rogers, who is first authority on English wages.

The thirteenth century condition was the first shown. This was the period of servitude. That is, the serf was attached to the manor. His condition as a whole was, however, such as the nineteenth century wageworkers can look back upon with envy. He had a holding on the manor, a house to l've in and a plot to cultivate. For this he paid the lord of the manor in a certain and not unreasonable amount of service. Beyond this, he need work only so much as he liked, and with no competition for work, wages were fair. The poor man received, it 's true, only two pence a day for wages. But its purchasing power made it equal to $1.50 to-day, and he had no rent to pay from it.

In 1349 the Black Death plague swept over England, carrying off one-third of the population. Workmen were in consequence in demand, and this brought about what is known as "The Golden Age" for English workmen. Serfs left the manors, and worked where they could get the best pay, and wages were equivalent to $3 a day. By act of parliament it was sought to fix wages at $2 a day, but the law of supply and demand fixed the higher wage.

From the middle of the fourteenth century the tendency of wages, with occasional fluctuations, has been downward. This was first brought about by taking the land away from the people. War was then a pursuit for gentlemen and not for the common people, and in the war of the Roses and the French war the nobles and gentlemen of England exhausted their wealth. They set about recuperating their fortunes by turning the people off the land to make sheep walks, and raise wool for the Antwerp markets. The poor lost land and homes; had nothing left to sell but their labor, and competition began for wages. The infamous poor laws were enacted, and pauperism was first felt. The turning out of inmates of monasteries and convents, by Henry VIII added to the number who must compete for work.

Early in the eighteenth century home spinning and weaving temporarily raised wages. Then the era of machinery began, and wages fell again. In 1824 the right to combine was guaranteed English workmen by parliament, since when there has gone on an unceasing struggle to better the wage workers' condition, but it has never again reached "a golden age."

The lecturer had a chart illustrating the rise and fall of wages during the periods spoken of, giving the purchasing power of the wages at all times, and the relative difference between skilled and unskilled labor. Another chart showed the hours of labor, and it was seen that in the best times the hours were shortest. For instance, the eight-hour day, for which workmen are now struggling, prevailed in the earlier centuries, while in the eighteenth century the 14-hour day prevailed in manufactories.

These charts were made yesterday at our manual training school, and were placed at the service of Mr. Bliss for the lecture by Mr. A. E. Macomber.

The lesson drawn from this study of facts by Mr. Bliss was that the people, deprived of land and of the use of machinery, could not reach fair conditions or economic independence. The reforms suggested were the nationalization of land and of capital, the latter word used in its economic sense, and meaning wealth used in the production of wealth.

How this is to be done is not so clear, said the speaker. To turn everything over to the state is not safe while the state is so corrupt. Though we must not forget the more the state is trusted the better it does, to illustrate which the present good government and conduct of business by the municipality of Birmingham was cited.

The speaker went with Henry George so far as George goes, which he thought in the right direction, but not far enough. A tax on land held for speculative purposes is a first step. Employment for the unemployed should be furnished.

Men want equal opportunities, not charity. They do not want model tenement houses furnished for them, they want to earn money to build houses to suit themselves.

Mr. Bliss spoke with deep feeling upon the so-called charities of the day, which he said he sometimes thought were a curse, and referred to the man who always signalized a cut-down of wages by giving an endowment to a college or a church. He thought a church so endowed was cursed, and ended his lecture, as he began it, by exhorting men to act in the spirit of Jesus Christ.

THE GAS TRUSTEES

Are Visited by a Canadian Who Has An Invention

That Knocks the Pumping Apparatus Out of Sight—The Business Considered Last Night.

The gas trustees held an interesting meeting last evening.

The secretary read the minutes of a secret session held January 11, whereat a resolution was adopted to petition the council to issue refunding bonds to furnish the means to redeem the certificates of indebtedness, amounting to $338,336.45, which was adopted.

Kellar Bros. were present and urged that a bill amounting to $703.07 for connections had been submitted since December 7, was still unpaid, and they needed the money.

H. W. Wilhelm was also present in the interest of the Toledo Truck and Storage company with an old account, which he wanted some action taken on.

Dr. Jones got out a schedule of bills, looked it over, said they had been approved by the committee and the board. Mr. Greene was not sure about that. The secretary was consulted, and after more parley the matter was dropped, and the collectors went away disgusted.

The committee on claims reported $317.81 worth of refunding orders redeemed.

The final estimate for drilling well No. 2 on the Lemmon farm, Cass township, Hancock county, as filed by John McIntyre, amounting to $1,200, was reported favorably upon by the committee and approved by the board, and credited to McIntyre's account. Before a vote was taken Mr. Backus said:

"Gentlemen, a question rests in my mind whether, under the original law enabling us to expend $150,000 for territory and wells, that we are not transcending our authority in investing any more money in territory and wells. The $150,000 has been paid out some time, and the trustees have exhausted the original $750,000. I deem it of sufficient importance at least to interview the city attorney in the matter and see what can be done."

Mr. Parsons—"The $150,000 came out of the $750,000."

Mr. Backus—"What I want to know is whether we have authority to go beyond the $150,000."

Mr. Parsons—"I don't think there is any question about it, but if you wish it, so be it."

Another account presented by John McIntyre for drilling wells amounting to $437.93 was allowed.

The final estimate for drilling and connecting the Fry well No. 2, Bloom township, Wood county, for $958.52, was presented by George L. Monroe, and assigned to Judge Harmon. The claim was allowed.

The judiciary committee, consisting of Dr. Jones and Mr. Backus, reported a division of the committee on the claim of Casper Snyder, of Hancock county, for $26.50 damages to his crops by the construction of the pipe line through his farm.

Dr. Jones was in favor of allowing it and Mr. Backus opposed it. He assigned as his reason that the contractor was the party to whom Mr. Snyder should look for indemnification; also that the claim was exorbitant, for the reason that the account charges 46 bushels of shelled corn at 50 cents a bushel. This, Mr. Backus said, was eight cents above the market price of corn at the time, and the damage included growing corn and not shelled, as stated in the claim.

Dr. Jones thought it would be cheaper to pay than litigate. He referred the matter back to the board, with recommendations that the amount be paid.

Mr. Parsons approved, with the addition that the claim be paid and charged to the account of R. W. Smith.

Manager Heston reported that on account of the exceedingly low pressure, meters were utterly useless, and he was of the opinion that no more should be set until the pressure became stronger. The report was filed and approved.

The gas-fitter's license issued to Richard Northford was revoked.

At this point a Canadian named Farmer presented letters patent of a machine of his own invention, which he assured the board would bridge the awful chasm over which the city plant was tottering, and pilot them safely over the pending heap of trouble.

Mr. Backus requested Mr. Farmer to explain his system.

After excusing his French, Mr. Farmer stated that the object of the invention was to add pressure to the natural supply of fuel gas, and when this was not sufficient the invention made it possible by a chemical process to manufacture gas to increase the pressure to any desired degree. The gas is manufactured by a chemical composition of coal oil, gasoline and water, and the pressure is afforded by power. He said he heated his own house by one of the machines, and if the plant would be increased, the pressure desired to supply the city could be maintained at all times. It would cost about $2,000 to establish such a plant, and the gas would cost about 12 cents per thousand cubic feet. The matter was referred to the superintendent, and a test of the scheme will be made at the gas office to-morrow.

Treasurer's receipts were reported as follows: January 18, $469; January 15, $115.90; January 14, $991.48; January 14, $80; January 12, $1,943.39; January 12, $4,695.05; January 13, $2,138.99.

Mr. Backus introduced a resolution that a report be filed with the board on or before January 31, giving the name and amount due for gas and other charges against delinquents, giving data and amount due. He stated that one case had come to his notice where a consumer had turned on the gas last August; that two or three times after this consumer had put in appearance to settle his bill, and no one could or would tell him how much he had been charged, and what his account was. Since that time he had not been near the office, nor any of the officials near him. Mr. Backus wanted to know if this was an isolated case. The board should know who is paying for gas and who is not. The resolution was adopted.

HERE'S THE PROPOSITION

Made by a Majority of the Gas Trustees

To the City Council With Regard to the Funding of the Certificates of Indebtedness Into Bonds.

At last night's meeting of the gas trustees, the communication to the city council regarding the taking up of the certificates of indebtedness and issuing in their stead 5 per cent. bonds, and of which mention was made in the Bee, was submitted, and will be forwarded to the city fathers. The document is in the nature of "findings" by the committee on city plant, many of the statements of facts as to the supply, etc., which, it will be remembered, were strenuously pooh-hooed by the trustees at the time the Bee conducted the investigation as to the results in other fields. However, the report of the committee is given as a matter of news, and the general reader may draw his own conclusions as to the desirability of carrying into execution the requests made.

To the Honorable Common Council of Toledo, Ohio.

Gentlemen—The natural gas trustees of the city of Toledo respectfully represent, and in furtherance of the objects for which they were appointed, and in order to carry out the plans of furnishing gas to the citizens of Toledo, have built a pipe line from the gas fields to the city and provided a belt line and laid about 80 miles of service lines within the city.

That the cost of this work has exceeded the original estimates, but was made necessary in order to make the plant available or profitable.

That in the prosecution of the work of piping the city the board has incurred an indebtedness of $333,336.45, which is becoming due, and which they will be unable to meet from the income on the receipts from the sale of natural gas, without diverting so much as to seriously jeopardize the interest of the future, which will depend upon the ability of the trustees to supply gas to consumers.

That the immense drain upon the gas fields for the last four years has seriously effected the quantity produced in the territory where most of the gas wells belonging to the city are located, and the rock pressure of the gas wells (which is the force by which the gas is driven through the pipe line) has diminished from 370 to 120 pounds, thereby very seriously diminishing the quantity which the pipe line will carry, and we are now confronted with a shortage of gas for the supply of the people who rely on us for a supply of that fuel, and without which there will be failure, not only to supply the needs of our people, but also an income to increase the supply and at the same time pay the debt incurred by the city in building the works.

The trustees have territory comprising some two thousand acres where the rock pressure is still undiminished and where a reasonable expectation may be entertained of providing for the wants of the city, and there is more that is offered and can be purchased if the trustees were situated financially so as to obtain it.

The trustees believe that every interest of the city demands that measures should be taken at once to preserve and perpetuate the plant and not allow it to be sacrificed for necessary aid, which it is believed you can furnish by funding the debt already incurred, as aforesaid, to-wit: in the amount $338,336.45, into bonds bearing 5 per cent. interest and running a period of 10 years, more or less.

By this relief, if it is afforded by you, it is believed that the income to be derived in the future, will pay the interest and principal and enable the trustees to enlarge the works and the amount of gas for consumers.

The trustees believe that this action on your part will in no wise increase the indebtedness of the city more than at present and will relieve a condition which threatens to seriously embarrass the future of the natural gas plant of the city, in which the tax-payers are so deeply interested.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

By order of the Board of Natural Gas Trustees.

Ayes—Messrs. Greene, Jones and President Parsons.

WANTED TO KILL HIS WIFE

A Drunken Blacksmith Secures a Knife

And at Once Attempts to Use It Upon the Person of His Better Half—He Gets a Workhouse Sentence.

Louis Stroehline a blacksmith living at 66 Walbridge avenue, went home last night drunk, and in his frenzied condition threatened to kill his wife. He immediately proceeded to carry out his threat by attacking her with a knife.

A terrific struggle ensued, but Mrs. Stroehline received a bad cut in the breast, but not a dangerous one.

The three little children were in the room at the time, and one of them rushed out and after hunting around through the snow found Officer Flanagan and told him what was going on.

The officer went to the house and arrested Stroehline before he was able to do any further damage.

In police court this morning the would-be murderer was fined $20 and costs and 60 days in the workhouse for assault and battery.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles

London wheat and corn market quiet. Liverpool wheat quiet, prices quoted a shade lower. Corn 1-2 pence lower, and dull.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 263,490 bu, compared with 218,147 bu on the same day last year.

The imports into the United Kingdom for the week were 1,664,000 bu of wheat and 152,000 bbls of flour, equal to 2,348,000 bu of wheat and 800,000 bu of corn.

The quantity of flour and wheat on ocean passage increased last week 2,528,000 bu, being an increase to the United Kingdom of 1,672,000 bu and an increase to the continent of 856,000 bu. Corn decreased 112,000 bu.

Our table herein of available wheat and corn shows an increase of 1,013,279 bu. wheat, and a decrease of 325,787 bu. corn.

The Northwestern Miller reports the official output of flour by Minneapolis mills for the year 1891 at 7,877,947 bbls against 6,938,830 bbls. in 1890, 6,088,865 bbls. in 1889 and 7,074,730 bbls. in 1888. The direct exports of flour to foreign countries for 1891 were 3,038,065 bbls., against 2,097,025 bbls. in 1890, 1,853,815 bbls. in 1889 and 2,197,615 bbls. in 1888.

Receipts of wheat continue very light. At Minneapolis and Duluth to-day 121,121 bu were received, and at five other principal western points 142,309 bu.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were: Wheat, 263,484 bu, and flour—without Philadelphia—to an aggregate of 325,000 bu. The export of corn was 260,005 bu, and of oats 140,875 bu.

English markets as reported herein are quiet and lower for wheat and corn.

The large increase in the ocean stock of flour and wheat comes as a surprise to the trade. The large increase in the shipments from India last week and aggregating 1,100,000 bu forms one of the items. The Pacific slope may have increased their movement, but a large portion of the increase is due to unusually light arrivals in the United Kingdom. The imports in the same week were at least 1,500,000 bu less than the average for a few weeks past.

The extract from the Mark Lane Express printed herein gives the stock of foreign wheats at 49,784,000 bus. on January 18th. A week previous the same paper stated the stock of wheat at 12 leading British ports at 16,000,000 bus. Of course twelve ports would not cover th estock, but the statements are inconsistent all the same, and we do not believe Great Britain has in store 50,000,000 bus. of wheat.

The Markets To-day.

The increase in the ocean stock of 2,528,000 bus. and weak cable advices were too much for the markets for wheat in this country and Chicago declined one cent to 90 1-4c for May, and New York one cent to $1.01 3-8.

Markets by Telegraph.

London, Jan. 19.—1:00 p. m.—Wheat cargoes off coast at opening, nothing offering; maize quiet. Wheat and maize cargoes on passage and for shipment, quiet. Weather cloudy.

Liverpool, Jan. 19, 1:00 p. m.—Wheat market quiet, demand poor, holders offer moderately. American mixed corn quiet, demand fair, 4s 11 1-2d. No. 2 spring wheat (U. S. seaboard inspection) 7s 11d @7s 11 1-2d. No. 2 red winter wheat (New York standard) 7s 11d@7s 11 1-2d. No. 1 California wheat 8s 3d@8s 3 1-2d. Wheat and corn off coast demand poor.

From this decline the markets began to improve on better buying, and just before the close, on a report of a declaration of war against Chile, the price advanced very sharply. The report seems to us premature. If the president's letter has been sent to congress it has been done to-day since 12 o'clock, and if the report is true congress has made short work of it.

Corn has ruled steady and about unchanged all day. Liverpool is quoted as closing lower, Antwerp unchanged, Paris unchanged. Berlin shade better.

In New York,—January wheat closed 1-8c and May 1-2c higher. January corn 3-8c lower. May unchanged. January oats 1-4c lower.

In Chicago.—May wheat closed 7-8c higher. January corn 1-2c lower. May unchanged. January oats unchanged.

In Toledo.—We have had a moderately active market for wheat futures. Prices opened 3-4c lower, and declined an additional 1-4c, from which point the market advanced 1 1-2c, and closed 5-8c above yesterday. On the call January sold at 90 1-4c, and May at 95 1-4@95 3-8c, and closed at 95 1-4c. After the call May sold at 95 3-8@95 1-8c, and closed 96 3-4c. Cash wheat was a little more in request. The sales of No. 2 soft were early at 90 1-4c, a loss of 3-4c. At close the market, without sales, was 91 3-4c, a gain of 3-4c. No 3 soft sold at 87 1-2c. At the close the market was 89c, and for L. S. 90c. Nothing doing in other grades.

Corn was in fair demand. On the call January sold at 41 1-2c. After the call No. 2 at 41c; January at 41 1-4c. No. 3 at 39 1-4c to 39 3-4c; No. 2 yellow at 41c. Nothing done in oats or rye. On the call May oats sold at 32 3-4c. Dressed hogs at $5 00. Clover seed was more active and cash seed higher. Prime for cash at $5 60; March, $5 65; No. 2 at $5 20 to $5 40; alsyke at $6 50.

WHEN KATE HAS DONE MY ROOM.

Oh, Kate, the maid who regulates
The domicile wherein I dwell,
Goes twice to church on Sabbath day;
And otherwise comports her well.
Within her heart, as I opine,
A thousand varied virtues bloom;
But in my heart what weight of woe,
When Kate has done my room.

The picture of my latest girl
Lies in the basket kept for waste;
One shoe is hid beneath the bed,
Its mate behind the trunk is placed.
Old refuse papers all are saved
Those yet unread have met their doom;
And everything is upside down
When Kafe has done my room.

My shoe brush's on the mantelpiece,
My tooth brush nestles on the floor,
The whisk broom and my button hook
Are out of sight forevermore;
And nothing's where it used to be,
Save in my heart eternal gloom;
And life becomes a thing of pain,
When Kate has done my room.

TOLEDO, OHIO, JANUARY 19, 1892.

For six weeks the sending of the Chilean correspondence to congress has been imminent. What's the hitch?

President Montt is indeed in close quarters. Whether there is greater safety for him if he shall have a war with the United States or shall not have one, is the question.

Senator Sherman is a unique man in a great many ways. One illustration of his uniquity is his ability to save five millions of dollars from his official salary.

Ex-President Cleveland has gone to spend a week hunting and fishing with Joseph Jefferson on his Louisiana plantation. No possible politics in this, but lots of fun.

It is to be regretted that the famous Ohio Yacht club, of Toledo, has run upon breakers inside its own lines. Toledoans generally hope the serious differences may be amicably adjusted.

The Saginaw News says: "Natural gas will never give out in Ohio so long as they have Foraker there." Unfortunately it is not the kind Ohio sells in Michigan for thirty cents per thousand feet.

Carroll D. Wright believes that strikes (the era of which he believes to be about ended) though evil in themselves, are yet productive of good in that they have taught labor and capital a new respect for each other. Many thinking people must agree with him.

The New York Herald, in a list of possible democratic nominees for the presidency, places Gray first on the list and Campbell second. It very amiably says these names are to be considered along with that of Mr. Cleveland, and when the convention assembles the man of the majority must win.

Mr. Chas. A. Dana, of the New York Sun, becomes president of the United Press in place of Mr. James W. Scott, of the Chicago Herald. Dana withdrew from the fossilized Associated Press for the purpose of joining the sprightly United Press, which for several years has been the leading news gatherer of this country.

Secretary Blaine was taken home from the cabinet meeting to-day ill from another of the attacks which are called indigestion. Great interest and great politics is involved in every pulse of the Secretary. There may be those of his own party to say, should death or disability overtake him, as that they said of Lincoln's taking-off, that providence interferred at just the right time.

The burning of the Robison car barns this morning, together with nearly forty valuable cars, is a serious loss to the community. Mr. David Robison has solved the question of rapid transit in Toledo, and if anybody deserves uninterrupted success it is such as he. Thus far he has surmounted every obstacle, and, undoubtedly, his indomitable energy will enable him to rise above this calamity and spread spread out farther and grander than before. We all hope so.

Mr. Murat Halstead has been saying to a London interviewer that Blaine will be nominated and elected, that reciprocity is the growing sentiment of the party. "We have protection enough," says Mr. Halstead, "and we want more reciprocity." How free trade can be advanced without letting down the protectionist fence, bar by bar, Mr. Halstead doesn't explain. It's rather hard to have the field marshal making off in this fashion with democratic doctrine.

The tariff on wool is a most wonderful and skilful invention. The wool grower was promised an advance in price with an increase of duty. Price went down two cents in this country (and one cent in the old world markets), and listen to the organs telling the deluded growers that if it had not been for the McKinley law the decline would have been eight or ten cents instead! And some of the poor deluded flock owners believe it, and wish the tax had been made "a leetle higher."

The country now appreciates the splendid effort made by the Cleveland administration to rehabilitate the United States navy. The administrations of Grant, Hayes and Arthur neglected substantial work in naval construction, though millions of dollars were squandered during Grant's eight years. From a squadron of rotton tubs Secretary Whitney transformed the navy into a degree of respectability, and, fortunately, President Harrison has continued the good work. Should the trouble with Chile result in war, the government will have serious use for its fine white squadron and other good fighting vessels of the United States navy.

The Wheeling Register grows keenly sarcastic over Clarkson's new republican hand-book, which he (the author) is desirous of placing in every republican household in the country, as a doctrinal expounder, and exponent of "actual facts." The last-mentioned are what catches the Register. Among these are noticed, "Blaine's settlement of the Bering sea question," the "marvellous feats of finance" performed by the billion-dollar congress (granted); the cheapening of all the necessaries of life by the McKinley tariff act, and the planting of new industries by virtue of the same—the tin plate business for instance, "which spends annually $20,000,000 in wages." Naturally these statements for "facts" are objected to.

Representative Doty has introduced a bill to give the women the right to vote for school officers. Petitions numerously signed will be sent to the legislature and strong delegations will represent the movement before the committee to which the bill will be referred. However much school suffrage ought to be conferred upon women there is not a title, chapter, section, sentence or word in the present constitution of Ohio that can be construed into delegating authority to the legislature to pass such a law. The present movement may be educational but it cannot amount to more. If a law should be passed the courts would unquestionably declare it unconstitutional. The proper thing to do is to urge the submission of an amendment to the constitution providing for such suffrage.

The Boston Herald thinks Senator Sherman must have been joking when he told the Ohio legislators, in acknowledging his re-election that "republican politics in this state has been singularly free from local prejudices." "There is no state in the union," says the Herald, "where political jealousy has manifested itself more abundantly, and the chief victim of it has been Senator John Sherman." We think the Herald is joking, when it speaks of Sherman as a "victim." Petty jealousy in his own party he has always aroused. Once by the treachery of a friend and colleague he perhaps missed a presidential nomination. But what favorite son of any state has received higher and more persistent honor than John Sherman?

The question of improving the harbor received substantial encouragement in council last night by the adoption of a resolution for the appointment of a committee to go to Washington to represent the matter before the committee on rivers and harbors. The committee consists of his honor Mayor Emmick, W. T. Carrington, S. C. Schenck, S. R. Calloway, D. B. Smith and Edward Mitchell. The interests represented by the committee are lumber, grain, the railroads, coal and shipping. These interests are as solid branches of business as can be found anywhere in the United States. Toledo's harbor needs immediate attention and the committee (if the board of aldermen concurs in the appointment), will have important business to transact. They will receive friendly and earnest assistance from Representative Haynes and Senator Brice.

With the names of other renowned dead who have taken recent departure, must be placed that of Randolph Rogers, the most distinguished of American sculptors. His father was a carpenter and he worked with him, in the village of Lyons, Wayne county, Michigan. From thence he went to Ann Arbor, where, at twelve years of age, in a bake shop, he began to mould dough into forms that attracted attention. From there he drifted into a dry goods house, and at length found employ in New York city. His employer, John Steward, jr., was surprised at the amateur work he found in Rogers' room, and gave him the opportunity of study in Rome. Besides many famous groups and single pieces, he designed and executed the bronze doors of the capitol at Washington and soldiers monuments at Cincinnati, Detroit ,and a number of towns in the east. His death occurred at his home in Rome, Friday last, in his sixty-seventh year, and he will be buried there.

Bob Ingersoll is happy again; Dr. Buckley has opened the way. The facetious infidel has been left quietly alone for a long time. Since he made campaign speeches declaring he "would have the tariff prohibitory to the last degree and compel our people to buy at home or go without," he has been quiescent, politically and religiously. Now that Dr. Buckley has made him happy by an attack and other ministers of the gospel are entering the controversy, the Col. is on his feet again and will soon be ready for a successful lecturing tour. Dr. Talmage with his "lachrymatory" and Wong Chin Foo and other "celebrities" are putting nut meats on his plate.

The St. Louis Star Sayings grows reminiscent, and remembers these events as happening in 1832: Just sixty years ago the first street railway was constructed in the United States, or anywhere else, for that matter. The line extended from the City Hall to Fourteenth street, New York. Just sixty years ago the scholarly Schoolcraft located the sources of the Mississippi. Just sixty years ago chloroform was first used by inhalation in New Haven. Just sixty years ago South Carolina nullifiers were forced to surrender.

The Washington Post says: "An Ohio senatorial election is not complete unless it is followed by a legislative investigation." And the Indianapolis Sentinel says: "Ohio politics, as everybody knows, is thoroughly rotten, and nobody will be surprised if it shall be proved that John Sherman has bought his way back into the senate." A nice name the Buckeye state is getting, thanks to a few noisy politicians.

Dr. Keeley, he of the golden cure for drunkenness, is on deck again, this time with an "infallible" (and very disagreeable) cure for the grip. The amount of free advertising Dr. Keeley manages to secure for himself will, by and by, induce the rest of the world to look upon him as the medical profession does—as a good bit of an imposter.

Helen Gould with millions upon millions at her back is paying the penalty for such greatness. No sooner is one crank suitor locked up than another takes his place, and fear of abduction or something more or less terrible is the haunt of her life. The maiden in humbler walks of life is spared all these worries.

Chicago has Theodore Thomas, the world's fair and a fine assortment of twenty-story buildings. Now there is danger that it will have Paderewski permanently. It also has a monument to General Grant. Where is the metropolis of this country anyway?

The role of the erstwhile Czar Reed in the present congress appears to be that of the joker. The Atlanta Journal says: "He is welcome to all the fun he can get out of this congress." That is all he can get. He takes no tricks this time.

The Louisville Courier-Journal revises the old jingo stanza for Mr. Blaine as follows:

We don't want to fight,
For, by jingo, it won't do;
We can't reciprocate, you see,
And do the bloody, too.

An exchange makes this neat and proven commentary on the life of Cardinal Manning: His career is a bright and shining example of the fact that a true Christian of any creed is sure of the respect and esteem of men of all creeds and of none.

The Chicago Times will "have a column open to cranks." It will prove very unsatisfactory. Editor Carter Harrison should know Chicago too well to suppose that much space would be sufficient for the specified contributors.

The Boston mugwumpian party which got named the "Columbian," is horrified to learn that such was the name under which Tammany was christened and flourished for a time.

It is said the only hotel in Jerusalem is owned by a Philadelphian. Can it be the mysteriously missing Marsh is at last located?

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Sir Arthur Sullivan has recently commenced work upon the libretto of a new comic opera.

Senator Sherman says of Mr. Carlisle that he is the brainiest and brightest man in the democratic party.

The Countess d'Eu will shortly bring out the autobiographical memoirs of her father, the late Dom Pedro.

Mr. Spurgeon has so far recovered his health that he is able to revise his sermons for weekly publication.

The late Duke of Devonshire used to drive Leigh Hunt about in his carriage and was a warm friend of Dickens.

Boston has an artist named Alexander Pope, and New York has a notary public named Westminster Abbey.

Gen. Lew Wallace is suffering from an embarrassment of riches in the way of offers from the publishers for his new novel.

The deafness of the Princess of Wales and her sister, the Czarina of Russia, was inherited from their mother, the queen of Denmark.

Dr. W. H. Russell, the London Times Crimean correspondent, will reside in Cairo, this winter, his health requiring just such a climate as that place provides.

Emperor William, looking for new spots to visit, is going to Roumania in the spring, accompanied by his brother Henry, to visit King Carol. Bucharest will be a gay city.

Alfred Tennyson Dickens is lecturing in Australia about his famous father, the great novelist, and is quite a drawing card. He is a partner with his brother, Edward Bulwer Lytton Dickens, in a stock and station business in that country, and combines lecturing with cattle raising as a means of building up a fortune.

There is hardly a more popular author in the country, certainly not in the south, than Thomas Nelson Page, whom the Harpers have chosen to succeed Charles Dudley Warner as editor of the "Drawer" in their monthly magazine. Mr. Page is still a young man, a lawyer in good practice in Virginia and a man of interesting personality.

On July 29, 1889, Alexander William George Duff, who was then Earl of Fife, but who was subsequently created Duke of Fife, married Princess Louise Victoria Alexandra Dagmar, eldest daughter of the Prince and Princess of Wales. Of this marriage there was born on May 17, 1891, a daughter, who was christined Alexandra Victoria Alberta Edwina Louisa Duff. As the succession now stands, in the event of the death of the Prince of Wales and Prince George, the throne of England would fall to the wife of the Duke of Fife, and after her death to Lady Alexandra Duff, he daughter, who is not yet a year old.

MENTIONED ON THE STREETS.

That cork-sole shoes are hurting the rubber trade.

That merchants are boxing up holiday goods until the next time.

That real estate transfers are rather few and far between just now.

That there is considerable drain on the infirmary woodpile these days.

That those tin cups Maj. McKinley promised John Fricht never came.

That much money changes hands, on the side, in the Madison street races.

That some people are cruel enough to call the police court the supreme court of Toledo.

That a large number of Toledo people are using natural gas simply for kindling purposes.

That the trials of speed, as announced in last night's Bee, will be witnessed by thousands.

That hearers speak in the highest terms of the talks of Rev. D. W. P. Bliss while in Toledo.

That there is general regret felt over the trouble which has arisen in the Ohio Yacht club.

That Mayor Emmick is making a lively race for inspectorship, but will probably be disappointed.

That absenteeism is already causing comment among the republican leaders in the legislature.

That large classes are being prepared for confirmation at Easter in the various Episcopal churches.

That sleigh-ride parties will be the popular social feature for the balance of the week, if not longer.

That Perry Werden and Otto Kasdorf broke the record on their last shoot—48 rabbits in two days.

That the Lincoln club banquet at Columbus next month will be an eye-opener to the administration people.

That undertakers are doing much more business than they ought to, and it is hoped there will soon be a lull.

That the Catholic Knights of Ohio appear to be on the move, and the insurance branch will undoubtedly prove successful.

That one of the burning questions of the hour was settled when Robison and Lang fixed up their overhead wire trouble.

That the Star Course committee are very happy over the success that has attended their efforts in providing fine entertainments.

That the outlines of the several redistricting bills introduced in the legislature are the worst appearing crazy quilts ever turned out.

That the men who store ice have been making the most of the cold snap, and are gathering the pure article anywhere it can be found.

That the Consolidated and Robison people will have the benedictions of Toledoans generally if they will only settle all other differences after the manner of the wire deal.

That Charlie Cottrell will have printed a 5,000 issue of his speech on "American Tin," which he is to deliver at the Lincoln banquet. He will probably send one to Billy Vena.

That the Ohio world's fair commission is to receive attention at the hands of the rippers in the legislature. It is said to be too large; that is too large so far as democrats are concerned.

That several dark horses are being groomed for the republican nomination for police clerk, since it is believed the bitter feeling between the three principal contestants will make the selection of either almost impossible.

Short in Accounts, Long on Whisky.

An Iowa county treasurer took his departure on a freight train just as he should have been turning over his office to his successor. As he was $30,000 short and is said to have been drinking heavily for the last year, it would seem that prohibition is short out there, too.—Pittsburg Times.

Short on Votes, but Long on Corn.

The individual of the name of Wheeler who ran for governor of Iowa on the republican ticket last fall is gathering 2,300 acres of corn that averages 40 bushels to the acre. It is a great pity that he did not know how to get votes as well as he knows how to raise corn.—Globe Democrat.

Calling Blaine to Time.

It requires no argument of this state of things to show that unless Mr. Blaine desires and intends to accept the nomination if he can get it, his silent endurance of the proceeding is foul conduct toward the chief at whose council board he continues to sit.—New York Times.

What a Re-publican Is.

The Century Dictionary sheds new light on an important subject by defining "publican" as a "public robber; tax collector." A re-publican must therefore be one who robs more than once. In the light of past events we cannot take issue with the dictionary.—Butte Miner.

This Settles It.

New York's gilt-edged democracy, the Manhattan club, have appointed a committee to urge the advantages and claims of this city as the seat of the next national democratic convention. Milwaukee, Indianapolis et al., clear the track there!—New York Telegram.

BACK FROM KENTON.

Postmaster Brown Talks Feelingly of Gen. J. S. Robinson.

Postmaster James M. Brown returned from Kenton last night, where he had been attending the funeral of the late Gen. J. S. Robinson. Speaking of the sad event to a Bee Mr. Brown said: "It was the largest gathering of the kind I have ever atended. I suppose, in fact I feel safe in asserting, that three-fourths of the population of the county from smaller towns and the rural districts turned out to pay tribute to the memory of the deceased, who was well-known and beloved by almost every man, woman and child in the county. Ever since Saturday morning until the remains were transferred to the cemetery, there was a constant stream of friends passing through the halls to catch a last look at the face of the dear friend and honored citizen. On the day of the funeral the town was literally alive with people from all parts of the state, as if it had been some great political gathering. General Robinson was a noble, generous-hearted man. There was no one who was acquainted with him, but felt at liberty to go to General Robinson for counsel, and he never turned anyone away without doing what he could for them."

STENOGRAPHER RESIGNED.

Upper Sandusky, O., Jan. 19.—Hon. James T. Close, of this city, official stenographer for this judicial district, composed of the counties of Wyandot, Crawford and Marion, has resigned his position, his intention being to remove to Toledo, and become a partner in a prominent law firm in that city. It is probable that Miss Minda Sears, of Bucyrus, will be appointed in his stead. The position pays $1,200 a year.

BEEN ASLEEP EIGHT DAYS.

Virginia, Ill., Jan. 19.—John Roberts, the sleeping prisoner in the county jail here, shows no signs of awakening. Yesterday was his eighth day sleeping and although taking food when placed to his lips he is very weak. In his stupor he has occasionally asked to see his father, but all efforts to awaken him have been tried with no avail. The medical fraternity is greatly puzzled over the case.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONERSHIP.

Prospects that the Plum Will Fall into Bill Kirkby's Lap.

Interest is becoming rather exciting in the contest for the railroad commissionership under Gov. McKinley. At the meeting of the railroad organizations in Columbus last week there was disagreement as to the candidates, and as a consequence those named by the branches may now safely be considered out of the race. Mr. Wm. Kirkby, of Toledo, was fortunate in not being drawn into the controversy, and his friends therefore consider him in excellent shape.

The contest seems to be narrowed down to Ralston, of Wooster, and Kirkby, with the objection against the former that he is now in the employ of a railroad company as an official. Mr. Kirkby's indorsements are said to be the best ever filed for any state position, and there will be considerable disappointment should he fail to "get there, Eli."

Of course, the contest is not one where the Bee's advice would go for a great deal, inasmuch as it is a republican scrape, but since it must be a member of the opposition who shall receive the appointment, the Bee is patriotic enough to be for a Toledoan as against the world, and is free to say that the selection of Mr. Kirkby will give satisfaction to the people of Toledo without regard to party, and the same feeling would likely prevail over the state.

Gov. McKinley, put Wm. Kirkby, of Toledo, down for the railroad commissionership, and all will be satisfied in this neck of the woods.

WINES OF THESE PARTS.

A Word About the Grape Grown Hereabouts and Island Wines.

Ohio ranks second as a wine producing state, California being first with an annual product of about 5,000,000 gallons; Ohio, 3,500,000 gallons. Two or three other states only reach the million mark, and the remainder produce comparatively small amounts. The most extensive cultivation in the state is in the vicinity of Lake Erie, the soil of the islands being specially adapted to grape cultivation. The Catawba grape was first planted on an extensive scale in this country on leased parcels of unimproved land near Cincinnati along in 1846. Later it was introduced in Missouri, Illinois and New York. The sprightly and aromatic Catawba is perhaps better known and has been longer appreciated than any other wine in America, many connoisseurs preferring it to the imported. It varies much in different localities, in northern Ohio containing less spirit but a high flavor and a good deal of acid, while the wines of Missouri and further south are smoother, heavier and less acid and astringent. Catawba resembles the light Rhine and Moselle wines of Germany, though of course with a peculiar characteristic flavor.

BIG RAILROADING.

The Standard Oil Company and Gould at War.

New York, Jan. 19.—The Times says that a private dispatch received in this city last night announces that the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific has completed negotiations on valuable terminal properties in Fort Worth and at Dallas, Texas.

The property is said to be worth $1,000,000. It is stated that the extension of the road to Fort Worth is to be for the purpose of making direct connection with the Missouri, Kansas & Texas system. The latter company is controlled by the Standard Oil people, to whom it was said to have been unloaded by Jay Gould at $40 per share. After the purchase it was discovered that the road was bankrupt and was put into the hands of a receiver.

Now it is said that Mr. Rockefeller is going to "get even" with the Goulds. The extension of the Rock Island is said to be part of the evening-up program, as outlined by the Standard Oil magnate.

GERMAN PRINTERS STRIKE.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—Two thousand of the printers who were engaged in the long strike which has several times been declared at an end have been unable to secure reinstatement in their former positions or obtain employment elsewhere. Great distress consequently prevails among the men, who now express bitter regret for having allowed themselves to be led into the disastrous movement.

SIMON SLICKTONGUE.

The honey of Hybla clogs his tongue,
His breath is a lure to the bee,
He scatters fresh roses for old and young,
With the world he is sure to agree;
Yet sweet as he is,
And complete as he is,
We often own, to ourselves alone,
That too sweet to be wholesome is he.

'Tis a shame to dream of a fault or a flaw
To be found where no fault you can see,
Yet a man standing close 'neath the shield of law
May stab to the heart equity;
So right as he is,
And bright as he is,
We often own, to ourselves alone,
That too right to be righteous is he.

That he's human at all we never were sure,
For from sin he avers he is free,
And lies (told by others) he cannot endure
(Unless good to himself they may be);
Yet fine as he is,
Benign as he is,
We often own, to ourselves alone,
That too fine for a workaday world is he.

Yet could we the lights and shadows and all
Through Simon's own spectacles see,
We might say he was right, and honestly call
Him as near to perfection as we;
Who complain without cause
Of the man without flaws,
While we might own, to ourselves alone,
That Simon is human and so are we.

BLOWN OUT OF EXISTENCE

The Phœnix Powder Mills Entirely Destroyed.

An Awful Explosion Occurred Yesterday.

The Entire Plant Wiped From the Earth and the Bleeding and Mutilated Workmen Hurled in All Directions.

Cincinnati, Jan. 19.—Specials from the cities near Ceredo, West Va., tell the news of a terrific explosion of the Phoenix powder mills.

The Phoenix mill is situated at Central City, near Ceredo, and about half way between Huntington, W. Va., and Cattlesburg, Ky. This is the third explosion at this mill within three months and is by all odds the most destructive one. The last one before this happened six weeks ago and was a trifling affair.

How the awful wreck was brought about will never be known, because not a soul that was in the mill is left alive to tell the story.

At 8:30 o'clock people in Ironton, 25 miles away, heard the terrible detonating roar. In Ceredo, three miles away, windows were broken and wares in the stores were shaken from the shelves. In Cattlesburg, nearly ten miles away, the earth shook and people were alarmed. Everybody divined the cause and there was a rush from all directions to the scene. The local authorities organized and surrounded the ruins with a cordon of police through which none of the thousands of spectators were permitted to pass.

It has been ascertained that the first explosion was in the glazing mill where there were 10 tons of powder. Then successively the packing house, the magazine and the four-wheel mills, and lastly a car loaded with gunpowder went hurling in fiery fragments through the air.

Not a vestige of the entire plant remains and the country for half a mile around is strewn with fragments of the buildings and of the bodies of five men, victims of the disaster. It is not known definitely, but at present writing it is believed that not less than 35 tons of powder were burned in the several explosions. The killed are:

Archie Livingston, who has been superintendent of the mills since they first started, was blown to atoms. Only his hand was found and recognized.

Ed Winton, the architect and engineer who built the works, was in the magazine when it exploded and while killed, strange to say his body was very little mutilated.

John Benton, a workman, was horribly mangled.

John Schlosser and Charles Scott, workmen, both terribly mutilated.

All these are either known or supposed to have been in the buildings when the explosion occurred. The mortally injured are:

Robert Cook, a glazing mill hand. He was approaching the glazing mill when it blew up. His clothing and his hair and whiskers were burned off. He ran 200 yards to a stream and jumped in. He will not live till midnight.

The seriously injured are: Reece Estep and John Justice, who happened to be in the vicinity when the explosions occurred. There are no doubts but that many were slightly injured whose names have not been ascertained.

STOLE THE CHILD.

A Very Bold Abduction in Canada.

Eleven-Year-Old Jane Smith Stolen From Her Home and Driven Away in a Cutter.

Drayton, Ont., Jan. 19.—A great sensation was created here by the abduction Saturday night of Jane Smith, a girl of 11 years, the adopted daughter of Louis Newton.

Two men, who are supposed to be John A. Gardner, agent of the Bell Organ company, Toronto, and an employe of that firm, arrived here Saturday night, and while one man stopped at the Royal hotel and engaged a horse and cutter, the other proceeded to the residence of Mr. Newton, where he saw the little girl, and by some means got her to accompany him to the sidewalk, where the cutter was in readiness.

She was placed in the cutter, and they all drove away in the direction of Guelph, where it is supposed they took the midnight train for Toronto.

IN AN UNKNOWN GRAVE.

Henry M. Griswold's Remains Located.

The Distribution of Sixty Thousand Dollars Depended Upon the Finding of the Body.

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 19.—About six years ago Henry M. Griswold, son of a wealthy man of this place, mysteriously disappeared and until recently his whereabouts were never known to his friends.

Shortly after he left here his father died, leaving him a fourth of his estate. Efforts were made to find the missing heir, but they all proved fruitless.

Recently Griswold's uncle and brother learned of a clue that took them to Langley, S. C., where they found that the body of the missing man had lain in an obscure grave for five years.

The body was disinterred and identified by relatives and shipped to this city. The clearing up of the mystery will enable the proper distribution of the estate of the elder Griswold, the value of which is about $60,000.

GOV. CARROLL S. PAGE.

Vermont's Chief Executive Talks to a Bee.

He Thinks Blaine is the Coming Man.

The Late Senatorial Campaign in Ohio Revived—A Warm Friend of the Late President Garfield.

Special Correspondence Toledo Bee.

Adrian, Mich., Jan. 19.—Gov. Carroll S. Page, the present chief executive of Vermont, spent Sunday here, the guest of his brother-in-law, Col. J. C. Patch, of the Hotel Lawrence. The governor was on his way to Chicago, to speak at a banquet tendered by Vermonters residing in Chicago.

Like Govs. Russell, Boies and others, Gov. Page has attained political notoriety in the past few years. He is a young man but little past 40, but is remarkably well informed on all questions touching the welfare of the public.

He has been associated somewhat in business with Redfield Proctor, and appointed the latter to the United States Senate to succeed Senator Edwards.

The governor while an admirer of Harrison, is an enthusiastic Blaine supporter, and predicts that the Plumed Knight is the coming man.

"If Blaine's health will [illegible] nothing on earth can prevent his nomination," said he to the writer. "The demand of his party is imperative, and Mr. Blaine dare not disregard it, if the acceptance of the nomination, with the arduous duties entailed thereby will not be considered too great a strain upon his constitution. At this time I believe that Mr. Blaine's health is as good as it has been for years, and I am certain that he is willing to make the race if it is decided to place him at the head of the party for the coming campaign."

"Why this desire to throw Harrison overboard?"

"There is really no desire to throw President Harrison overboard. I think it is conceded that he has given the country an able administration. Most of his appointments have been received with favor and in nearly every instance the places have been conferred upon worthy men.

"The president has avoided to a great extent the common error of filling the public offices with cheap men, merely for the sake of paying political debts.

"There has been no serious objection to his policy. It has been safe and conservative and the moneyed men not only in the east but all over the country are content.

"His advisors have been cautious men who have reflected credit upon his administration.

"It is not that the party is dissatisfied with Harrison, but that it wants Blaine.

"The coming campaign will be a hard fought contest on economic theories. The question of tariff will be in the foreground and while Blaine has always been a protectionest he is more liberal than other of the party leaders.

"His policy of reciprocity is a popular one and it is conceded that were he at the head of the affairs of the nation more than one foreign market would be opened to our products.

"Mr. Blaine is the natural leader of the party on this great question as he always has been on all questions, and the demand for his nomination will be unanimous when the time comes."

"Last fall I visited Montana with Secretary Proctor who at that time was making an inspection of the frontier posts. At a dinner at Helena given in our honor Senators Saunders and Powers, Gov. Toole and other prominent republicans were present. I asked Senator Saunders who Montana republicans favored for the nomination.

"Well," said he. "If Harrison is nominated we will not carry Montana. If Blaine is nominated we will do it easily." Turning to Gov. Toole I asked him if those were his sentiments. The governor replied:

"The first proposition I am ready to debate. The second one I assert emphatically to be true!"

This is an illustration of the general sentiment of republicans all over the country.

"Governor, will not the nomination of Blaine antagonize the Harrison wing of the party to such a degree as to endanger its success?"

"Oh, no; I think not. I have every reason to believe that Harrison and Blaine understand each other, and if the party prefers the latter the president will cheerfully acquiesce. Senator Proctor has said to me repeatedly that to his certain knowledge nothing but the kindest of feeling exists between them, and that an understanding has been reached. If Blaine is nominated he will receive the united support of the party."

"Why will Blaine be stronger in '92 than he was in '84?"

"There are several reasons why he will be. One of them I have already stated, and that is that his theories of reciprocity are popular ones. In '84 he was obliged, you might say, to fight a defensive campaign. Such will not be the case if he's nominated this year. The old stories that were told on Blaine in '84 would scarcely be revived and the campaign would be a clean fight on principle, no matter who the democratic nominee will be."

"What is the feeling in New England, Governor, in regard to the democratic nomination?"

"I cannot answer that. My own state is strongly for Cleveland, but in our section Senator Hill has many friends. He is a very astute and clever politician, but I do not think he will be nominated. He is too thorough a politician to receive any portion of the independent or mugwump vote, without which New York state could not be carried for him. Whether Cleveland will be the man, I am unable to say."

Gov. Page is a warm admirer of Ohio and Ohio men. In speaking of the late senatorial struggle he remarked that there was a tremendous influence brought to bear upon the state representatives in favor of Sherman.

"That reminds me," said the governor, "that Senator Morrill, of Vermont, and Senator Sherman are much alike in respect to the length of time they have been in the public service. Senator Morrill, when he finishes his present term, will have served in congress, in the house and senate, continuously for 42 years. Sherman will also have been in the public service that long, but a part of the time he has held cabinet positions, so that Morrill, who is 82 years old, has the longest record of any man in the nation.

"With all his years he is one of the young old men you occasionally hear of, and is as chipper as a lark."

"In speaking of Ohio's great men," continued the governor, "I shall always class Garfield in the front rank. There was a man of the most wonderful ability, and I shall never forget an incident in his life.

"In the Chicago convention of 1880, to which I was a delegate, Conkling presented Grant's name in a speech which is seldom equaled. From the time of his opening sentence, 'When asked whence comes our candidate

Our answer still shall be,
He comes from Appomattox,
And its famous apple tree,'

Until the close his speech evoked the wildest applause and when he finished it was several minutes before the clerk could proceed with the roll of the states.

Following New York came Ohio, and when Garfield arose amid cheers to place John Sherman's name before the convention, I thought what a place that man has to ill to follow such a speech as Conkling's, but I shall never forget his opening words. Standing erect and gazing over the vast hall he remained quiet for a couple of minutes waiting for the storm to subside. Then he said in that impressive bass voice:

"Mr. Chairman: It is not when the sea is lashed by angry winds and the waves are rolling mountains high, but rather when the waters are calm that the careful mariner takes his soundings. So I am led to remark that not in the storms of June, but in the calm of November will the people of this great nation chose a ruler."

"The convention broke into the wildest applause when he closed that remarkable sentence and the great orator had robbed Conkling's masterly speech of its charm, at one dash. I shall never forget that speech."

ENDED IN MURDER.

William Morris Shoots and Kills His Son-In-Law.

Waupuca, Wis., Jan. 19.—Yesterday in the town of Belmont, a few miles from this city Herman Morris shot and killed his son-in-law William Hurst.

Hurst had only been married a few months and was a son of John Hurst, a member of the veterans' home. He caused a letter to be published in the Waupaca Post sometime ago, stating that the Woman's Relief corps of Black River Falls had sent a brussels carpet to his parents at the home, and Captain Caldwell had refused to deliver it to them, a statement that was subsequently proved to be false.

Morris fled after the shooting and has not yet been arrested.

AMONG THE LEPERS.

An American Captain's Noble Sacrifice of Himself at Molokai.

M. Souvin, writing to Le Correspondent of a visit made to the good Sisters of Katanpapa, the successor of the martyr priest, Father Damian, of the Lazaretto, of Molokai, Kingdom of Hawaii, says:

"We should not know what to do," said one of the sisters to me, "without the excellent Mr. N."

"Who is Mr. N?" said I to Father Vandelin, when he had left the sister.

"You shall see for yourself," he replied, smilingly.

We stopped a moment at the door of a cottage similar to all the others, and as we dismounted a man of at least 40 years of age, tall, with a long, black beard, high forehead and intelligent glance, appeared in the shade. Notwithstanding his blue linen clothes, he had a fine appearance and distinguished manner. His hands were white.

"We have not seen you to-day, Mr. N.," said the priest.

"I have taken advantage of the holiday to rest. I have not left the house."

Mr. N. employed correct English, but seemed little inclined to permit much investigation with regard to himself. As he replied with great brevity to the various questions I asked him, I saw that he was not fond of such indiscreet interlocutors for which reasons I made signs to the priest to return to Kalavao.

"What do you think of Mr. N.?" said my companion.

"He appears to be a very good man, but rather melancholy and silent. Is he a leper?"

"Certainly not. Mr. N. was a captain in the United States army; one day he left his quarters without saying a word to anybody; he came to these islands and asked permission to visit the lazaretto. Upon arriving here he succeeded in having his services accepted. This was six years ago, and he does not think of leaving. He never speaks of himself or his past life. He is profoundly religious, and I presume that, wishing to retire from the world for some reason connected with his heart or conscience, he chose the only suicide that is allowed a Catholic—sacrificing his life for these poor unfortunates. The agent of the government has several times desired to appoint him to some administrative office, but he always declined to accept it. He treats the sores of the lepers in the last stages of the disease, buries the dead and assists the sisters in the boys' asylum, living like an Anchorite, without ever relaxing his abnegation."

"Do you think," I said, "that he may be living under a slight delusion?"

"Not for a moment. He is a very serious, well-balanced man, who has imposed a duty upon himself. With regard to delusions, my dear sir, they pass very quickly from among us. We are too far from the world for the sacrifice to make such noise, and the sad monotony of the lazaretto is the most efficacious of annoyances. Mr. N. shows, moreover, such modesty that even in Honolulu the greater number of people are ignorant of his existence."

I shall take care to respect the incognito of Mr. N., but from the innermost recesses of my soul I send him a tribute of my admiration.

That Awful Disease.

Petersburg, Ind., Aug. 8, 1890.
Dr. Bergen, City:
Dear Sir—I have been a victim to that awful disease known as asthma, all my life, and very often I would be down with it—not able to be out of the house—and have tried everything I could hear of, but they never did me much if any good. I was finally persuaded to try your cure. So, after taking a few bottles of it, I was entirely free from asthma and have not had any since and don't feel that I ever will. I always keep a bottle on hand, but don't think I will ever have occasion to use it. I can cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers of asthma.

A Wonderful Mirage Reported From Montana.

Indians and White Men Seen in Battle and the People Are Greatly Alarmed.

Lewiston, Mont., Jan. 19.—A wonderful mirage was distinctly visible near this city yesterday. The mirage has caused considerable alarm, however, because it is feared that the Indians may have started on the warpath and encountered a party of hunters.

Through the vistas, during the afternoon the hunters and red men could be seen repeatedly to charge and retreat.

The Indians were apparently well supplied with ammunition, and by superior numbers they finally succeeded in capturing a party of some dozen hunters.

Those who witnessed the wonderful scenic effect produced by the mirage assert that they could distinctly see the savages build piles of faggots and burn their captives at the stake.

Midwinter mirage in the clear, crisp atmosphere of the Rockies are rare, and phenomena of this character is usually a reproduction of real events or real sections of the country.

So far as could be ascertained last night the Indians on the reservation are peaceable.

CURTIS' TRIAL.

CROUPY SOUNDS

At night, from baby's crib, are distracting to parents who are at a loss for a medicine equal to the emergency. Not so with those who have Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. A dose of this medicine affords certain and speedy relief. To cure colds, coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, and the various disorders of the breathing apparatus, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has no equal. It soothes the inflamed tissue, expectorates, and inspires Call For confidence. Capt. promotes U. Carley, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for thirty years and have always found it the best remedy for croup, to which complaint my children were subject."

"I use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice, and pronounce it to be unequaled as a remedy for colds and coughs."—J. G. Gordon, M. D., Carroll Co., Virginia.

HAVE YOU THE GRIPPE?

Many People Have It and Do Not Know It.—How to Recognize the Symptoms and How to Treat Them.

Hundreds of people have the Grippe who do not know it. Not necessarily the final stages, but the first stages. They feel pains in the head, and a bad taste in the mouth, get tired and despondent, have chilly sensations, limbs and muscles ache. In some cases these things are overlooked. In most cases perhaps they are considered simply a slight cold. In nearly every case they indicate the coming of Grippe.

There is but one thing to do when these symptoms appear, and that is to take prompt and vigorous measures, to fortify nature to repel the enemy. A little well directed effort at just the right time will accomplish very much more than labored efforts afterwards. There is but one thing to be done, and that is to use a pure stimulant, something that will promptly arrest, and in no way injure, something endorsed by scientists, recommended by physicians, and popular because so efficient—Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Two years ago, and last year when the Grippe was raging, this was the standard remedy used, and recommended by the profession. It did more to prevent the Grippe than all other known or recommended remedies. It preserved many people in health who would otherwise have been grievously sick, perhaps even worse. It is as efficient to-day as ever. It should be borne in mind that other so-called whiskies may not be so efficient, and if any dealer asserts that such whiskies are the same, distrust him at once. There is but one medicinal whiskey and that is Duffy's Pure Malt.

FRANCE AND UTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two-thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, rich and poor. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

CINCINNATI, JACKS

ENTERTAINMENTS.

"My Jack's" Opening Night at the People's.

Lydia Thompson To-Night—Kate Claxton Next Week—"Incog" —Dramatic News.

My Jack, a strong realistic melodrama, opened at the People's theater last evening for a week's run. The house was not large, owing probably to the inclemency of the weather, but the audience present witnessed a good play and were appreciative.

The play has a good plot and is strongly written, the interest never flagging from beginning to end. Special scenery is used and some good effects are produced.

The company composing the cast is a good one, considerably above the ordinary, led by George L. Montserrat, a handsome young fellow, as Jack Meredith. His work in the part was conscientious and clever.

George Hoey as Sir Edward Vanburg; Henry Lee as Ciro Panitza, the vagabond Greek; Lillian Brainard, as the blind widow, and Ethel Barrington as Dorothy Prescott, are all actors of merit and interpret their parts for all there is in them.

Lydia Thompson.

Lydia Thompson, with a good comedy company, will present a clever triple bill at Wheeler's this evening, consisting of Uncle Dan, My Friend Jarlet and Hamlet for a Charity. This is in English style and will be something of a novelty here. Miss Thompson is better known in burlesque, but she is making a big success in straight comedy.

Kate Claxton.

That clever artiste, Kate Claxton, appears at Wheeler's next Monday, Jan. 25, in her well-known character of Louise, the blind girl, in her magnificent revival of The Two Orphans. Her rendering of this part has always had a deep hold upon the public imagination, and gave her her reputation as an actress of intrinsic worth. She plays the part with the same undiminished force and interest.

The piece is magnificently costumed and the support is unquestionably a strong party of players, while the scenery is the same that was used during the recent New York run.

Week of Light Opera.

The Wilbur Opera company, with Susie Kirwin in the lead, will be at the People's all of next week in several light operas, including Fanchette, Falka, Jolly Perfumer, Dorothy and Princess To-To.

The Hero of Romance.

Saturday last a contract was signed in Baltimore between C. J. Whitney, of Detroit, and W. M. Wilkison, manager of the great romantic actor, Alexander Salvini, for the actor's appearance in Detroit and Toledo. Manager Wilkison arrived in the city last night to arrange the preliminaries for the engagement and left this morning for Detroit where Salvini opens next Monday. The engagement of this handsome young actor is one of far more than ordinary importance and will be one of the interesting theatrical events of the year, socially and artistically. The romantic drama has had but few exponents on the American stage who have attained any remarkable degree of success, and strange to say they have all been foreigners with the one exception of the late E. L. Davenport. Among the older heroes of romance may be mentioned the elder Wallack, and Charles Fechter. Edwin Booth has been very successful in a few romantic roles, but his name has been more closely identified with tragedy. Now comes young Salvini, the worthy son of a famous sire, who bids fair to become even more popular in this country than was his illustrious father. But young Salvini is an American and glories in being known as one.

In selecting the romantic rather than the tragic field Salvini and Manager Wilkison have shown their wisdom. Salvini possesses all the essentials for the heroes of Dumas and D'Enner. He is young, vigorous, impetuous and handsome and inherits from his father that true dramatic instinct and fire so peculiar to the Italian school. His engagement at the Wheeler is for Friday and Saturday, January 29 and 30, and the announcements for his repertoire will be made later.

Incog.

When Charles Dickson in Incog plays at the Wheeler opera house next Thursday evening, Toledoans will have the pleasure of witnessing another superb organization, the Geo. W. Lederer model company, which bears the same relation to comedy that the Men and Women company do to the drama.

Ellen Burg, the leading lady, is an American girl of German parentage, who has already made her reputation on the German stage in New York, where she became identified with those ingenue parts which Ada Rehan played in Daly's adaptations of the German plays. She is perfectly at home in either German or English. Alice Shepard is new to us also, but she was last season the leading lady in the Lyceum road company in The Wife. Clara Lipman will be remembered in several ingenue parts in Palmer's company and attracted a great deal of attention. Nellie Buckley will be cordially received. Harry Davenport is the brother of Fanny Davenport. He plays the old man in Incog., and is said to do it remarkably well. J. C. Ottomeyer did one of the cleverest pieces of character work of late years when he played Baron Hartfeld in Jim the Penman, of which he was the original impersonator in America. Robert Edison, Louis Mann, Earle Brown, Louis Mason and Edgar Allen are well spoken of.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Attends to Several Matters Relative to the Running of the Schools.

The board of education met last night with five members present, President Hubbard and Messrs. Trost, Eversman, Schlingman and Zirwas.

A bill from the B. F. Wade company for $400 was presented, for the printing in book form of the annual report of the public schools for the year ending August 31, 1891. The committee, Messrs. Zirwas, Trost and Schlingman, reported favorably, and the bill was allowed.

Communications were received from agents offering for sale physiological charts and encyclopaedias, and from Isaac D. Smead & Co. proposing the putting in of heating and ventilating apparatus for $497 at Sherman street school.

Mr. Schlingman objected to the payment of the whole sum in advance of the completion of the system, and it was agreed that 80 per cent. be paid when the apparatus was set, and the balance of 20 per cent. when the work was finished. With this understanding the plans were referred to the building committee, to report at next meeting.

Superintendent Compton spoke of the lack of gas in some of the schools, but it was anticipated that unless the weather was very severe that there would be little or no trouble.

Mr. Trost, as a special committee, reported the purchase of 12 feet of ground on Lawrence avenue in addition to the school yard for $390, the board to accept orders in favor of S. Canfield, agent of the mortgagee, $100, and for the Witker manufacturing company, $290. The report was accepted.

An anatomical chart was exhibited and explained by an agent for the Central School Supply house, of Chicago.

Mr. Schlingman made a motion that one chart be purchased for one school in each ward, but Mr. Trost thought that the commercial side of the question should be considered, that in buying so many charts a reduction in price should be made.

Superintendent Compton remarked that the teachers suggested the need of a like apparatus, but two schools having anything of the kind, and that something was required to make the pupils take more interest in the study of physiology. He was favorable to the purchase of this or a like chart.

The agent said that it would be impossible to make the price less than had been communicated if 500 charts were purchased. It was upon suggestion of Mr. Zirwas agreed that the subject should come before a full board. A committee was appointed to report at next meeting.

THE COUNCIL.

Committee Appointed to Labor With Congress,

In the Interests of Another Harbor Appropriation—The Tanner Case —Railway Ordinance—Illuminating Gas.

At the meeting of the board of councilmen last evening all members were present except Messrs. Tanner, Caldwell, Gill and Albrecht.

But little discussion was indulged in, and an hour's session disposed of the work. There was a big lobby on hand in the interests of several improvement measures that came up.

Under the call for new business Mr. Taylor introduced a resolution directing the health officer to employ three teams and drivers to collect garbage from private residences.

This service he stated was intended to take the place of the present collections until a new contract is let.

The resolution was passed by a vote of 8 to 6.

Mr. Taylor also presented a resolution which was adopted, directing the chief of police to enforce section 639 of the revised ordinances of the city regarding the congregation of persons on the sidewalks.

Mr. Walker introduced a resolution directing the street commissioner to fill the approaches on Nebraska avenue at the Michigan Central crossing. This was adopted.

President Hassenzahl presented a resolution appointing the mayor, Messrs. W. T. Carrington, S. C. Schenck, S. R. Calloway, D. B. Smith and Edward Mitchell a committee to go to Washington and endeavor to get a larger appropriation from congress. For expenses $500 was appropriated. This was adopted without comment.

The general street railway ordinance came up and passed its first reading, but as the previous ordinance, which was passed, except the parts vetoed by the mayor, has not yet become a law, the new ordinance was laid over for two weeks, on motion of Mr. Pheatt.

An ordinance was passed to grade Lee street from Walbridge avenue to Sumner street.

The resolution to condemn property and open an alley southwest of Monroe street, between Huron and Erie, was adopted.

A resolution was also adopted to construct a new sewer in Ravine alley.

The report of the board of revision on the Tanner investigation, which was presented to the board of aldermen last week, was read.

Mr. Morris stated that since this report was made, this case had been regularly docketed on the police court docket and the money credited to this case. As the board made no charge except for an irregularity and possibly negligence, he thought, in justice to Mr. Tanner and the board there should be a further finding from the board of revision.

On his motion the matter was referred back to the board of revision.

The ordinance fixing the price of illuminating gas at $1.10 per thousand came up on its third reading but was lost, eight ayes, six noes.

The contract of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railway with the city caused some discussion. In this contract the railroad is requred to build its main shops in Toledo and it is stated that they are being erected outside of the city limits. Messrs. Pheatt, Morris and the city solicitor were appointed a committee to look into the matter.

THE WONDER OF NATIONS.

I've been thinking of the nations that have existed first and last,
And wondered why some unseen power their prospects always blast.

Babylon was the first, and proudest of them
all,
But kings and royalty could not prevent their quick and sure downfall.

Nebuchadnezzar was the proudest of all her haughty kings,
He said, I'm the greatest monarch in the world, then all his wealth took wings.

Seven years he had to eat the grass in common with his herds,
That he and all the world might know they should not use such words.

The God of heaven would not be mocked by such ungrateful boast,
So gave Medo Persia Babylon's throne with all her mighty hosts.

Darius the medium took the kingdom when three score and two years old,
Daniel was his favored seer because so good and bold.

But Medo Persia could not stand the power and wealth she had,
So lost her hold upon the throne and soon
went to the bad.

Her kings like those of Babylon were too
arrogant and proud,
So very quickly lost their heads and occupied their shroud.

They quickly found on power they had no
certain lease,
So vacated throne and kingdom in favor of ancient Greece.

The Grecians for a few short years served their God quite well,
Then built them idols to their mind and through their idols fell.

Their temples were filled with idols from basement up to dome,
So all their power was taken away and given over to Rome.

Of all the ancient kingdoms the Romans
were the last;
They also worshipped idols, so their power
God did blast.

The Romans went to pieces just like the crumbling clay,
So not a pigment of her power is visible today.

They tried to make a union between the church and state,
But the power would not have it and left them to their fate.

God would have a kingdom that from such sins were free,
So sent over one, Columbus, across the raging sea.

Columbus crossed in safety and slept upon the shore,
And thus the way was opened for many thousands more.

The people all through Europe were tired of king and pope,
So swiftly fled across the sea to enjoy their new hope.

So when the Mayflower landed with all her sainted crew,
They left old things behind them and commenced their lives anew.

Now we have a nation of which we can be proud,
Where everyone can worship God and sing his praise aloud.

Thus we have been blessed for more than a hundred years,
But on account of sin and strife we have good cause for fears.

The constitution of the States is just as it should be,
It declares all people equal and says they shall be free.

Now let me say to one and all let well enough alone,
Or we like all the nations past will lose our power and throne.

Written by Dr. A. A. Bigelow, Toledo's popular dentist, 305 Summit street.

COULD NOT CONVICT THEM.

The Alleged Abductors of Perrien Go Free.

A Long Trial Ended in Detroit and the Mystery Just as Deep as Ever.

Detroit, Jan. 19.—On March 19 last Joseph Perrien, a wealthy miller, was lured from his home at night by a forged note, saying a friend was sick, and after a short ride in a coupe armed men stepped in and commanded him to be silent at the mouth of revolvers.

They took him to a retreat, where they made him sign a check for $15,000 for his ransom, but the disappearance leaked out and there was such a sensation that the check could not be negotiated. He was released the following night and for months the police were working up the case, which culminated in the arrest of the Considine gang, John and William Considine, Frank Griffiths, Tom Kennedy and Ed Kent.

They were charged with conspiracy to extort money, and the trial has been one full of perjury and criminal charges on both sides, lasting a month. William Considine was tried first, and on his case all the rest depended, and the jury went out yesterday.

The jury agreed last night and brought in a verdict of not guilty, which practically settles the whole affair and may have something to do with a wholesale cleaning out in the police force.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

The purpose of the meeting is to unite if possible this and all other so-called reform organizations.

Pleasures of Memory.

What a blessed thing is memory? How it brings up the pleasures of the past, and hides its unpleasantnesses! You recall your childhood days, do you not, and wish they would return? You remember the pleasant associations, while the unpleasant ones are forgotten. Perhaps to your mind comes the face of some friend. It was once a pale, sad face. It showed marks of pain, lines of care. It seemed to be looking into the hereafter, the unknown future. And then you recalled how it brightened, how it recovered its rosy hue, how it became a picture of happiness and joy. Do you remember these things? Many people do, and gladly tell how the health returned, how happiness came back, how the world seemed bright. They tell how they were once weak, nerveless, perhaps in pain, certainly unhappy. They tell of sleepless nights, restless days, untouched food, unstrung nerves. And then they tell how they became happy, healthy and strong once more. You have heard it often in the past, have you not? You have heard people describe how they were cured and kept in health? You certainly can remember what it is that has so helped people in America. If not, listen to what Mrs. Annie Jenness Miller, who is known universally as the great dress reformer, says: "Six years ago, when suffering from mental care and overwork, I received the most pronounced benefit from the use of that great medicine, Warner's Safe Cure." Ah, now you remember. Now you recall how many people you have heard say this same thing. Now you recollect how much you have heard of this great Cure. Now you are ready to admit that memory is usually pleasing, that the highest pleasure comes from perfect health, and that this great remedy has done more to produce and prolong health than any other discovery ever known in the entire history of the whole world.

WALT WHITMAN'S TOMB.

Where the Remains of the Good Gray Poet Will Rest.

In the summer and autumn months, before Walt Whitman was compelled to confine himself to his room, one of his pleasures was to drive out to "Harleigh" and superintend the erection of a vault, which would, in the natural course of events, be his last resting place.

Two miles from the Philadelphia ferries and easy of access by road or rail lays Harleigh cemetery, beautifully situated on one of the few picturesque spots around Camden. The main road to Haddonfield is directly past its gates and the first impression on entering these is of a splendidly appointed park, laid out on a landscape lawn principle. Beautiful oval lawns of soft velvety grass, shafts, columns and monuments of granite and marble in perfect uniformity are scattered about, here and there are lovely beds of flowers artistically arranged with exquisite taste, while in the valley lies a beautiful lake fed from the hill, in which has been erected the vault of the "Good Gray Poet."

It is here among a plantation of beech and magnolia trees, at the head of the lake, that Walt Whitman has selected the spot for his last resting place. The vault is built into the hill on the west side of the grounds and is composed of enormous boulders of granite. The stone door itself, although hung on massive brass hinges, requires the united effort of three strong men to close its portals. The two front stones, standing there like immovable sentries, are very imposing. A solid piece is laid across these on the top and a heavy handsome triangular stone is placed again on these, with the simple inscription, "Walt Whitman," carved out of this solid cap-stone. The whole structure, in its retiring unostentatious situation, is in entire keeping with the man to whose memory it will stand as a living remembrance.

A NEW FAD.

A new fad has sprung up in New York society, and is rapidly spreading. It is nothing less than an idea of compelling the waiters who attend private dinner parties to wear a dress by which they can be distinguished from the guests. The dress suit of the waiter has come to be regarded as the upper ten as no less than a nuisance, and in order to preserve some belle of society, as the term goes, from the awful possibility of mistaking a handsome waiter for a merchant's son all waiters must wear a coat of distinctive line. Do you know we are really beginning to become quite anglicized, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. I believe we will next compel our servants to cut away their mustaches and beards, like the footmen of Great Britain, and the day is not far distant when crests on the hat of the coachman shall form a distinguished feature of the members of the 400. In the east we are fast aping English customs. We have the footman in long top-boots and livery; we clip the tails of our horses as they do in England, and, altogether, some of our society folk without these equipments would look to the resident of New York somewhat like a peacock without his tail. English cadishness and foppery are bad, but their imitation by empty dudes and moneyed plutocrats is even worse.

Taylor's flour is used by the Irish because it is the whitest flour in the market.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

There is no longer an excuse for hesitancy on the part of any sufferer from a chronic ailment to consult and engage the services of Drs. France & Ottman, and an observance of the crowds that throng their parlors for a single day might well be taken as evidence that such a hesitancy does not exist. The doctors are certainly wonderful men. Their rapid reading of disease manifestations and application of remedies to their cure can only be accounted for by the law of special adaptation or intuition. They prescribe for from four to five hundred patients every four weeks and they not only instantly recognize each patient but have in mind every feature of their disease and note every change in their condition without reference to the written records which they keep alone, for their future statistical value. They possess powers of mind and penetration accorded to but few human beings. Don't delay, but consult them free of charge.

Drs. France & Ottman, formerly of New York, now of the France Medical and Surgical Institute, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients, have decided to visit Toledo, Wednesday, January 20. Consultation and examination free and strictly confidential in the private parlor of the Burnett house, from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., one day only.

Garfield Tea is peculiarly adapted to persons of sedentary habits, as its action is mild, not drostic or constipating, leaving no after ill-effects.

HOW TO HAVE A BRIGHT LAMP.

In these days when lamps are used so much the care of them is quite an important matter. If the lamps be good and have proper attention one cannot wish for a more satisfactory light; but if badly cared for they will be a source of much discomfort. The great secret of having lamps in good working order is to keep them clean and to use good oil. Have a regular place and time for cleaning the lamps. Put a folded newspaper on the table, so that any stray bits of burned wick or drops of oil may fall upon it. Wash and wipe the chimney shades. Now take off all loose parts of the burner, washing them in hot soapsuds and wiping with a clean, soft cloth. Trim the wicks and turn them quite low. With a soft, wet cloth, well soaked, wipe the burner thoroughly, working the cloth us much as possible inside the burner, to get off every particle of the charred wick. Now fill the lamps within about one inch of the top and wipe with a damp towel and then a dry one. Adjust all the parts and return them to their proper places. Whenever a new wick is required in a lamp wash and scald the burner before putting in the wick. With a student lamp the receptacle for waste oil, which is screwed on the bottom of the burner, should be taken off at least once a week and washed. Sometimes a wick will get very dark and dirty before it is half consumed. It is not economy to try to burn it; replace it with a fresh one.

Do You Know What We Are Doing at Our One-Third-Off Sale?

We are offering to the citizens of Toledo an opportunity that never comes more than once a year and when it does come you want to grapple it to your memory with bands of steel. Do not forget it. THIS IS WHAT WE ARE DOING!

WE ARE SELLING

MEN'S AND BOYS' OVERCOATS ONE-THIRD OFF!

MEN'S AND BOYS' UNDERWEAR ONE-THIRD OFF!

You all know that we handle the best made clothing that's made in America and America beats the world! And every one knows that we sell at regular prices so low as not only to meet but to distance the keenest competition.

Our Regular Prices are Always the Lowest, but Now there is One-Third Off our Regular Prices!

So that you can readily understand the unparalleled values we are now giving—are below zero! Profit or loss we no longer have to consider. The immense stock of merchandise contained in our building WE OWN. IT IS OURS, IT IS ALL PAID FOR, WE OWE NOBODY!

And we can do just as we please with it—and just now it is our pleasure to discharge some of the obligations we are under to the people of Toledo— by giving back to them in this great sacrifice sale, a part of the wealth and profit they have so kindly bestowed upon us.

THIS IS MOCKETT'S METHODS

We do not believe in burying our goods away from one season to another only to resurrect them again and try to pass them off upon the people as new goods—that isn't our style—and since it is too late to sell the stock we have left on our hands and realize any profit on same—we deem it better to sell it at a sacrifice

THE WAY TO GO.

You have seen California frequently mentioned in newspapers and magazines. Perhaps a friend has been there and writes enthusiastic letters back home about the climate and the fruits. It makes you anxious to see the country for yourself.

The time to go is in the fall and winter. Then work here is least pressing and California climate is most pleasing. The way to go is via Santa Fe route, on one of that line's popular, personally-conducted parties, leaving Chicago every Saturday evening and leaving Kansas City every Sunday morning.

Special agents and porters in attendance. Pullman tourist sleepers are used, furnished with bedding, mattresses, toilet articles, etc. Second-class tickets honored. Write to Geo. E. Gilman, Michigan Passenger Agent Santa Fe route, for folder describing these excursions.
